Good-by and Good Luck—Four days after little Ruth Orser was born in Lying-In Hospital, she was stricken ill . . . and transferred to Children's Hospital for treatment. That was 10 months ago. Today, all better, she will be taken to the Wellesley Convalescent Home where she'll stay for a while before joining her mother, Mrs. Clayton Orser, in Framingham. Meanwhile, nurses at Children's Hospital gave her a gay going away party today . . . and everybody's happy.

All-Out British Drive on Caen

By WES GALLAGHER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, June 29 (AP) — The Germans were reported today to have thrown the bulk of their 15th and 17th armies into the defense of Caen in an attempt to halt the British flanking thrust south of the inland port.

But Gen. Montgomery's men smashed nine counterattacks in 24 hours and widened a breach in the enemy lines.

Headquarters announced British infantry and armor were streaming across the Odon river southwest of Caen in an ever-widening bridgehead.

Field dispatches said the German command had sent virtually the entire strength of the two armies into fierce armored fighting raging on three sides of the city.

5000 BRITISH TANKS

(The British have thrown 5000 tanks into the battle for Caen, the Vichy radio reported. The broadcast said the British Second Army was continuing all-out efforts to pierce German lines west and east of Tilly-sur-Seulles over an 18-mile front.)

(The German communique said the British were attacking on a 7-mile front and had achieved a "minor break-in" southwest of Caen.)

A field dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Greene said hundreds of British guns laid down a "murderous barrage" against German armored forces moving to attack the British right flank and quoted British officers as saying "Germans on the roads are being slaughtered by our planes."

The Germans threw 150 tanks into flank attacks yesterday, the dispatch said, and much hand-to-hand fighting occurred in the woods where the British hunted down camouflaged Germans.

DESTROY 160 NAZI TANKS

Heavy fighting, including large-scale tank clashes, raged at distances of two to four miles from the strongly-defended German base in eastern Normandy. Little change, however, has occurred in the front positions in the past 12 hours.

The last field reports said 60 German tanks had been destroyed in three days of the Caen fighting, bringing the campaign total to 160.

In the air, the long-dormant German air force sprang into life under a cloak of clouds to support Rommel's desperate bid to drive back the British, but 27 enemy planes were downed.

Indications the Germans were moving strategic reserves from Germany into France to meet the Allies in Normandy was seen in a heavy RAF bomber attack last night on Metz. Improving weather gave promise the Allies would be able to bring more strength into supporting air assaults.

The ground fighting was particularly fluid below Caen, where the Germans have established no line because of a lack of infantry.

BAY STATE MARINES COMMENDED—These four Massachusetts marines, serving with an aviation ground crew group in the South Pacific, have been commended for heroic action during a Jap attack on their base several months ago. They are (kneeling) Sgt. Donald A. Sawyer of Springfield; (standing, l. to r.) Sgt. Robert F. Gallivan of Northampton, Sgt. W. A. Cooks of West Springfield, and S-Sgt. Thomas J. Fromme of Monson.

RUSSIA—Red Army forces today continued their big push toward the Nazi bastion of Minsk after capturing Mogilev, Lepel and Osipovichi and completing the encircling of Mobruisk, trapping five Nazi divisions.

Nazis Flee Road Napoleon Tried

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, June 29 (AP)—Soviet armies converging on Minsk drove within 37 miles of the White Russian capital today, pushing the Germans swiftly back over the same road to Warsaw and Berlin which Napoleon followed in his disastrous retreat from Moscow.

Like a huge hand, the Red Army reached for Minsk while artillery and bombers blasted a way for ground forces.

The Soviet offensive was formed by units fanning out to the northeast of Minsk like fingers, while strong groups southeast of the city formed the thumb.

With the freeing of Mogilev the Russians for the first time in nearly three years have a direct rail route between Leningrad and Odessa.

The Russians have had four-fifths of the railway in working order since winter, but were unable to use the section passing through Vitebsk, Orsha, Mogilev and Zhlobin.

Field dispatches said the Germans retreated from this area so quickly they had little time to damage the rail line.

The three main thrusts at Minsk were down the old Smolensk-Warsaw road; over the Bykhov-Minsk highway across the Berezina river; up through the valley of the Ptich river over the Gomel-Minsk railway and highway.

Red troops on the Smolensk road the reached the Berezina north of Borisov, near the place where Napoleon, with his staggering remnants, made a crossing at the village of Studenky. Borisov appeared as good as gone.

On the Bykhov-Minsk highway Red units approached the middle Berezina area through rolling woodlands. In the valley of the Ptich the Russians northwest of Osipovichi were 55 miles from Minsk.

Red star correspondent Pavlenko quoted a Russian general as saying "never has any army in the world met such a defeat as the German army has at present."

U. S. Bombers Batter Reich

LONDON, June 29 (AP)—Upward of 1000 Fortresses and Liberators attacked Germany today, hitting four aircraft producing centers, a synthetic oil refinery and other military and industrial targets in the Reich.

Escorted by an equal number fighters, the heavies attacked aircraft plants Leipzig, Oschersleben, Aschersleben and Fallersleben and a refinery at Bohlsen, capping a 12-hour Allied air offensive which saw more than 3000 warplanes scourging important Nazi installations across northwest Europe.

Railroad centers, haltingly feeding reinforcements to the Germans' taxed battle lines, were other targets in the big assault.

Before the American heavies swept out, some 500 RAF Halifaxes bombed rail yards in Metz, near Verdun.

Japs Win Yank Drome in China

By Associated Press

Jap troops have captured the U. S. Airforce base at Hengyang, thus reaping one of the first major fruits of their drive to slice China in two.

Chungking, conceding abandonment of the field, reported the vital Chinese city had burst into flames under the pressure of the greatest Japanese-China offensive since 1938.

Loss of the base was a hard blow to the Allies and Maj. Gen. Chenault's fliers quickly retaliated, dropping 1000-pound bombs and knocking out one runway.

Hengyang, key point on the Hankow-Canton railway, is surrounded. Its loss would greatly advance Japan's aim at bisecting the country along the rail line and blocking the Allies out of coastal China.

20,000 JAPS IN TRAP

Twenty thousand Japanese battled with fury to stem American forces slowly wedging them into the northern neck of Saipan island.

U. S. Marines and infantrymen advancing up both coasts of Saipan got strong support from naval and air forces which struck at the Kuriles north of Japan, at the Marianas an dthe Carolines among the specific targets were Guam, Rota, Paramushiro, Shumushu, Tinian and Truk. Eenemy air attacks against American warships and transports utterly failed, Adm. Nimitz announced.

The foot soldiers inched into Garapan, Saipan's capital, blasting out the defenders street by street.

SECOND TRAP CLOSING

A second trap was closing on thousands of Jap troops falling back on Wewak, New Guinea coastal base. Australians advanced 80 miles in 28 days from the southeast and another Allied force pushed down from Aitape from the north. The gap between the forces is 150 miles. The Aussies took Hansa bay, once chief enemy coastal base.

Gen. MacArthur's airmen hit Timor, Selaroe, Babo, Manokwari, Wewak, Sorong, Yap, Woleai, Rabaul and Bougainville.

Chinese advanced six miles from Mogaung toward Myitkyina. They also forged to within three miles of Tengchung, Japanese base in southwestern China.

All Japanese west of the Kohima-Imphal road in India have been eliminated.

Robots Still Flying

LONDON, June 29 (AP)—Germany's flying bomb attacks on Southern England went into the third week today without any sign of a letup but an official British statement assured harassed civilians hat "we are on the right road" toward destroying them.

5th Gains 5 Miles, Takes Town

By NOLAND NORGAARD

ROME, June 29 (AP)—Along a highway littered with enemy dead and abandoned equipment, American troops of the Fifth Army punched forward another five miles along Italy's west coast yesterday and captured the town of Castagneto, only 25 miles from Livorno, while a second American column farther inland pierced through German lines to within a dozen miles of Siena, Allied headquarters said today.

An official spokesman declared the enemy is showing signs of confusion in the coastal sector, where the incessant battering by American guns caused heavy casualties and the roundup of prisoners from decimated German units progressed steadily.

Capture of Castagneto gave the Allies control of an important lateral road which formerly linked the enemy's coastal defenders with the Nazis' central sector.

An enemy infantry company which attempted to break the advance by infiltration back into the captured village of Sassetta was wiped out.

An American armored force captured the road junction town of Monticiano on Highway 73, and leading elements thrust to within 12 miles of Siena. The village of Montalcinello also was taken.

The French, on the right wing of the Fifth Army, reported substantial gains, capturing the towns of Monticchiello, Pienza and Montalcino, all southeast of Siena.

It was announced that the Fifth Army alone has taken over 25,000 prisoners since the offensive began seven weeks ago today.

CHICAGO, June 29 (AP)—With the methodical precision of a trial lawyer, Thomas E. Dewey tackled his biggest case today. At stake is the presidency.

Wildly cheered by a perspiring but happy convention crowd, Dewey accepted the Republican presidential nomination last night with an appeal to voters "of every party" to help him "bring an end to one-man government in America."

Today's first order of business for Dewey after his quick flight from Albany and a post-convention reception that lasted into the small hours, was a series of conferences with every member of the party's National Committee. A forenoon press conference also was scheduled.

The candidate plans to remain here three or four days, mapping campaign strategy with Republican leaders who long ago had

Dewey Message to N. E.

Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee today gave Frank Reilly, Boston American staff writer in Chicago, the following message for the people of New England:

"I am grateful to my friends in New England for the splendid support given me at the convention. I am confident that the continued aid of the New England states will help assure a Republican victory in November and the return of a real American form of government to Washington in January."

Roxbury Father In McGrath Quiz

After a night in jail, a 40-year-old West Roxbury man, who worked several weeks ago as a bartender in Scituate, was re-questioned by State and Scituate police today in the kidnap-murder of 10-year-old Frances McGrath.

Taken into custody as the result of boasts he allegedly made in a cafe about how the child was killed, the latest suspect faced questioning about his activities on the Saturday night of June 10, when Frances vanished after leaving a Scituate Harbor bowling alley. Her body was found in a Norwell woodland six days later.

Police said the man, a former government employe who is married and father of three children, denied being in Scituate at the time the girl disappeared.

The suspect was picked up and brought to headquarters after two women, Mrs. Mabel Marshall, 47, of Hyde Park ave., and Mrs. Lillian McDonald, 27, of Business st., both of Hyde Park, reported he told them in a Hyde Park cafe that he knew what had happened to the McGrath girl.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock an important conference of all investigators involved in the case will be held at the Norwell barracks of the state police. Asst. Dist. Atty. John R. Wheatley of Norfolk and Plymouth counties called the meeting. He is in charge of the case in the absence of Dist. Atty. Edmund R. Dewing.

One of the things that will be laid before this conference is the finding by the state chemist that stains on a pillow in the home of a man who had been questioned in the case are blood stains.

The medical examiner's report yesterday revealed that in the dead girl's stomach were the undigested portions of the last meal she ate at home. It consisted of frankfurts, beans, relish, walnuts and raisins. Shortly before she disappeared she ate some maple walnut ice cream at the drugstore.

This raised the question whether the girl had been kept for several days by her slayer before she was killed. Doctors announced the girl had been dead only 24 to 36 hours before she was found. They explain the apparent contradiction here by stating she might have lingered several days during which her organs failed to function, leaving the food undigested.

Dewey Will Speak Here During August

By FRANK REILLY
Record-American Staff Writer

CHICAGO, June 29—In a special message thanking Massachusetts delegates for their support at the convention, Gov. Dewey told the Boston American today he was confident New England would do its part to assure a Republican victory in November.

The Republican presidential candidate, admitting he was counting on New England to assure his election at the polls, said he would make a special effort to place the whole six states in the GOP column.

Dewey's managers revealed they plan to wage a vigorous campaign in the Bay State and have already completed arrangements for their candidate to speak in Boston, Springfield and Worcester in August.

They said they would apply to Massachusetts the same type of organization used in New York to elect Dewey governor, and declared the accent of their campaign would be placed on youth.

"We plan to form Dewey committees in all cities and towns of Massachusetts," a spokesman said, "and we will seek out and give credit to the men and women who do the active campaign work usually without any recognition."

With the nomination of Bricker as vice-presidential candidate, City Councilor James C. Bayley of the Back Bay emerged as one of the leaders in the campaign. Bayley, although not a delegate, was in the forefront here as a Bricker supporter, and was one of the first New Englanders to urge his selection as Dewey's running mate.

George B. Rowell, chairman of the Republican state committee, said he had arranged to meet with Dewey managers later today on Massachusetts' campaign plans. He said Dewey-Bricker committees would be organized in all sections of the state.

For more than five hours last night, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey and Mr. and Mrs. Bricker met and shook hands with an estimated 5000 persons in the ballroom of the Hotel Stevens. The reception probably would have continued all through the night if police had not cut off admission to thousands

Gaming Rise In Hub Traced

The alltime low record of morale in the Boston police dept. under the baleful influence of politics and administrative ineptitude is revealed in this fifth article of the series which reviews the deterioration of the department during the past 25 years.

By BARRINGTON WELLES

The Garrett scandal spelled the end of the Wilson regime but there was no interruption of the disruptive grip of politics on Boston's police department.

For the department offers a natural invitation to political manipulators because it is the only police force of a large Metropolitan city in the United States which is at the mercy of state politics. By law, the state and not the city appoints the commissioner.

Out went Garrett and out went Wilson but in came Eugene C. Hultman, a veteran of appointive public office.

EXPENSIVE EVASION

He held sway for little more than four years, during which time the department remained a football for political factions. Hultman, however, closed his regime by being thrown for a 20-yard gain into the chairmanship of the Metropolitan District Commission.

When Hultman took over the department in 1930 the prohibition era was at its height. Police prosecutions of illicit liquor operations were at a low ebb and gangland murders were frequent.

So frequent, in fact, were some of these daring daylight slayings that the syndicate crime operators found their most costly expenditures were for the evasion of justice. Police, public officials and even the jury system were tampered with in this mockery of the law and many of the slayings still are listed as unsolved.

Syndicate crime operators dictated their terms in the liquor traffic. With the aid of political contact men they set prices for alcohol and synthetic liquor and decreed where it could or could not be purchased. If a customer was a good one, the syndicate would even come to his defense in jousts with the law.

BREEN IS WINNER

There was one man in the Boston underworld who defied both police and syndicate. He was the late David J. "Beano" Breen, a swashbuckling figure who gained national fame as a Boston speakeasy operator and several times made Hultman the talk of the city to the detriment of police morale.

Breen became such a thorn in the side of Hultman and ranking police officials that they fought him for three years.

But, unfortunately for law and order, Breen won that fight, too, gaining eventually a Supreme Court decision that the police had used illegal methods and political trickery in their crusade against him.

The records show that the doors of Breen's speakeasy had been battered down by police 50 times.

Breen, always a handy man with his fists, on two occasions, claiming he had been double crossed, punched police sergeants into unconsciousness. One melee occurred in a downtown garage and the other in a corridor outside the equity motion session of superior court.

RULED GAMBLING

Breen's war with the police was expensive, however, and the legal costs of his Supreme Court appeal proved to be his financial undoing. Thereupon, he made overtures to the syndicate gamblers and they gladly took him into partnership.

Breen's support so fortified the syndicate that they took over 75 per cent of the city's gambling operations on a protection basis and continued to rule this profitable enterprise until January, 1943, when Atty. Gen. Robert T. Bushnell launched the first of his series of statewide raids.

The rules under which the syndicate operated gambling were laid down at a meeting in a downtown hotel, to which all the gambling operators were summoned.

The meeting was climaxed with the arrest of the entire group, but police were a little too hasty in their entrance, for a semi-dictaphone hookup carried little evidence on which to obtain convictions.

Of the group arrested, only one man was convicted, and that offense was for carrying a gun. The rest were released.

POLICE HELPLESS

That's the way it was in the Hultman regime, and the rank and file of the police department, and even capable superior officers, were unable to do anything about it.

Hultman himself recognized the unhappy situation in his annual report to Gov. Joseph B. Ely late in 1934. His remedy was that the position of commissioner should be made a life tenure.

"Political control of the police by the short tenure of the office of commissioner is dangerous," he wrote. "In addition to continual shifting of policy, there is always the danger of political removal."

No action ever was taken on that recommendation, and Hultman finally found himself kicked upstairs by Gov. Ely in the face of a threat by incoming Gov. James M. Curley to "fire Hultman" as his first official act.

ALWAYS OPEN SEASON

Hultman was appointed chairman of the Metropolitan District Commission, Dec. 27, 1934, and was permitted to resign as police commissioner.

Opinion was mixed whether Ely's move was prompted by a desire to save Hultman or thwart Curley, but it showed that to Democrat as well as Republican it was always open season on the Boston police department.

(Tomorrow's instalment is an astonishing revelation of political connivance that preceded the appointment of another commissioner—thus once more depressing the morale and efficiency of the department.)

93 Graduate From Harvard

Today was graduaion day for Harvard's smallest civilian class since 1860, and for the largest military group in the university's history.

Only 93 seniors were nominated to receive degrees at the 2 p. m. open-air ceremony in Tercentenary Theater, but training certificates were made out for 5200 Army and Navy officers and for 60 WAVES at Radcliffe.

Presentation of the military certificates was by Maj. Gen. Sherman Miles and R. Adm. Robert A. Theobald.

The graduation ceremony was to be followed by the annual meeting of the alumni association, with addresses scheduled by James B. Conant, president, and Gov. Saltonstall. The governor will arrive by plane from Chicago.

Two Nazi Officers Dead in Plane Crash

NEW YORK, June 29 (INS)—Gen. Alfred Jodl, Nazi artillery and tank expert, was killed in the same plane crash which resulted in the death of Lt. Gen. Eduard Dietl, German commander in Finland, according to an unconfirmed dispatch from Germany.

Begins REA Food Fast With Feast

ST. LOUIS, June 29 (AP)—Admitting he was a "little hungry," Chester Lake, field representative for the Rural Electrifications Administration, today began his second day of a hunger strike which he says will continue until the REA is removed from "political domination and made an independent agency once more."

Lake, whose $5800 a year job as assistant to REA Administrator Harry Slattery has been abolished effective Saturday, ate chicken a la king and apple pie at noon yesterday. He has not eaten since.

"The hardest part of my fasting is watching other people eat," he mused.

"There's no need for people to worry about me. I'm doing this because it's good for my conscience."

Lake, 51, weighed 200 pounds after his last meal.

He plans to work until Saturday, then go to bed.

Manpower Program Opens Here July 5

The male referral program of the War Manpower Commission, scheduled to start Saturday in the Greater Boston area, has been delayed until July 5 because of the holiday week-end, Leon J. Kowal, area director, announced today.

Under this program employers of eight or more workers can hire male help only through referral by the U. S. Employment Service. Essential companies, however, Kowal said, in high positions on the priority list will probably be permitted to employ workers without referral.

Ceilings and standards of referral will be made at a meeting of the management-labor committee tonight.

Mrs. Higginson Shows Gain

After 14 days of coma, Mrs. Francis Lee Higginson, 31, showed signs of regaining consciousness today by opening her eyes for the first time.

Dr. Gilbert Horrax said it might be a matter of days or weeks before she could tie her mental processes with her actions, and confidence in herself had to be built before surgery could be attempted.

At New England Deaconess Hospital, where Mrs. Higginson was removed after a mysterious bludgeoning in her West Cornwall, Ct., home, Dr. Horrax said she finally showed today's spark of consciousness after doctors and nurses had been coaching her for day. At their command today, she looked at her hands when she opened her eyes.

Finn Democracy Near Collapse

STOCKHOLM, June 29 (AP)—Finland was faced with the threatened collapse of virtually all semblance of democratic government today as Nazi troops swarmed through that country.

At a Parliament meeting today the five cabinet ministers of the dominant Social Democratic party were scheduled to withdraw formally from the government of President Risto Ryti and Premier Edwin Linkomies.

The Progressive party and the Swedish People's party also expressed no confidence in the government in party caucuses. One Progressive member may withdraw from the cabinet.

5 U. S. Fighters Top 400 MPH

NEW YORK, June 29 (INS)—The United States has five fighter planes capable of speeds more than 400 miles an hour, the "Aircraft Year Book," published today disclosed. Great Britain has three 400-mile-an-hour fighters, Germany two and Japan none, it said.

Howard Mingos, editor, said similar American superiorities were apparent in every category of combat aircraft.

The American fighters given the high speed rating are the Lockheed Lightning, Republic Thunderbolt, Grumman Hellcat, Vought Corsair and North American Mustang.

U. S. Reveals New Monster Army Anti-Aircraft Gun

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON

ERIE PROVING GROUNDS, Lacarne, O., June 29 (AP)—Capable of outreaching the highest-flying bombers, a new antiaircraft giant is being used by the Army to clear the skues of enemy planes.

Army ordnance experts at this Lake Erie testing grounds today took the wraps off the 120-millimeter antiaircraft cannon, bigger by far than any other similar armament known.

Newsmen saw a demonstration of the 30-ton mobile monster, with a potential firing rate of 12 shells a minute. Newest feature of the mogul is an automatic rammer, which sets a 50-pound shell in the breech, adjusts its fuse and rams home a semi-fixed charge of powder.

Assembled in Grand Rapids, Mich., the gun costs more than $100,000 a unit, Cil. F. E. Rundell, commander here, said.

Described by one officer as "a box of brains and 19 strong backs," because of its highly secret control mechanism and crew of 19, the gun has been in combat, although no details are available on its performance.

Biggest Army anti-aircraft weapon previously used was a 90 millimeter gun which sent a projectile less than half the size of that fired in abe new unit to a height of 35,000 feet.

Noxon on Stand, Traces Early Days, War Career

PITTSFIELD, June 29—The 12 jurors who are to decide the fate of John F. Noxon, wealthy corporation counsel, heard for the first time today from his own lips about the 6-months-old abnormal infant, Lawrence Noxon who, the State says, was deliberately electrocuted by his father.

There was a dramatic hush in the courtroom when Walter Donovan, defense counsel, in a barely audible voice, called:

"Mr. Noxon."

The prisoner left his cage walking with two canes he has been using since being struck with infantile paralysis 20 years ago, and made his way to the witnes stand. As soon as he was sworn in, Judge Pinanski asked him if he would rather be seated. "I'm all right for a while," he replied brusquely.

Then in a firm cultured voice under questioning by Donovan, he began to tell details of his life and that of his family leading to that fatal afternoon when baby Lawrence, a monogloid infant was found dead on a tray on the floor of the Noxon bookroom, near some electric wires.

TELLS OF EDUCATION

Six feet tall and slim, he stood erect, answering all questions with theausterity whach has characterized his behavior during four full weeks of gruelling testimony in which the most horrowing details of his baby's death were discussed.

He said he was 47, had attended public schools in Pittsfield till he was 15, then gone to Kent School, "wherem y son is now going." He added in an aside then he entered Harvard.

"I stayed at Harvard during my freshman and part of my sophomore year," he testified, "then I joined the Harvard Regiment. As soon as war was declared I was sent to a machine gun school, then aboard where I was first attached to a French regiment for further training. From there I was transferred to the Rainbow Division.

On emorial Day in 1918, I was badly gassed and hospitalized for several months. During this time I asked to be transferred to the tank corps. I was sent to a tank school and it was there I served as an adjutant to Gen. Patton, who was the a lieutenant colonel.

RETURNED TO HARVARD

"When I came back to America I was in hospitals, both here, in New York and in Boston. I went back to Harvard and received my batchelor of arts degree in 1920.

"I had planned to go to Harvard law school, but was struck with infantile paralysis."

Interrupted at this point to tell of the condition of his infirmity at the present time, Noxon explained that his legs were in about the same condition as they were about a year after his attack. He said he had no control over his left leg and his right leg was partly normal.

"I returned to Harvard," he resumed, "and attended the Law School nevertheless, receiving my law degree in 1924 after which I was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar.

"I then entered my father's office, who had a partnership with Michael Eisner. After father left, I continued on with Mr. Eisner" (he indicated Eisner seated at the defense table with a nod. Eisner is one of the defense lawyers).

"Shortly after I married Margaret Swift, whose father was a physician here in Pittsfield.

FATHER'S MISFORTUNE

"My first son, John the 3d, was born, and in the beginning we lived at my father's house at South st."

Noxon then related how his father, the first John Noxon, a former famed district attorney in Berkshire County, had walked into a street car in front of the local Y. M. C. A. due to failing eyesight and lost both legs.

Questioned as to whether the elder Noxon was blind, Noxon replied he did not know if he was completely blind but he could not read. An elevator was built into the house he said for his father to get about but he stayed mostly in bed until he died. After he died, he said they built the home on West st., sometime in 1938 and moved there in 1939.

JOHN F. NOXON, JR.
On Stand in Own Defense

Asked about his practice, Noxon said he had never tried a case before a jury in Superior Court as he did not handle Criminal cases. He listed some of his clients as the Berkshire Trust Company, The Berkshire County Savings Bank, The Agricultural Bank, the House of Mercy Hospital and various other companies.

He then began to relate events about the pitiful baby beginning with before the baby's birth when the Frank Sam Giovannis, a couple who did the house work in the Noxon home wanted to leave so the husband could go into a war plant.

"I told them Mrs. Noxon was an expectant mother and we arranged that Mr. Sangiovanni could work in a defense shop while Mrs. Sangiovanni remained to help Mrs. Noxon. They continued to occupy their apartment over the garage.

"They both had access to all parts of the house. They were anxious to have a place of their own but remained for a while after the baby was born. The baby was born prematurely on March 26, while I was in Boston. Mrs. Noxon was then 43 and I was 45. He weighed six pounds and looked like any other baby.

Mrs. Noxon had to remain in the hospital for about four weeks. When she came home she brought a nurse with her.

2 Held in Foiled Ether Robbery

Capt. Joseph P. Mahoney of the Brookline police left for Philadelphia today to bring back a man and his blonde wive charged with an attempt a month ago to etherize and rob Miss Diana Segool, 54-year-old Boston business woman, of $5000 in jewels.

The couple, arrested by FBI agents and postal authorities, gave the names of Henry G. Stanworth, 38, and Marjorie Smith Stanforth, 26. Police said they are wanted from coast to coast for jewel robberies.

According to Brookline police, the couple made Miss Segool's acquaintance in Florida and followed her north to renew the friendship. They dined and wined her, police said.

Following a party at a Boston hotel on May 29, police say they forced an ether-saturated wad of cotton over her face while driving home to her Greenway st., Brookline apartment, and attempted to wrest from her person expensive bracelets, rings and pins.

Miss Segool struggled free and her screams scared her assailants away.

Police said the couple used the aliases of Mr. and Mrs. George Rector and Mr. and Mrs. Cooper. Federal authorities found in their North Philadelphia apartment a directory of prospective victims, including a description of jewelry, a revolver, a pistol, a blackjack, a can of ether, threeb ottles of chloroform and eight bottles of knockout drops.

Rubin Hearing In Slaying Set

Free on bail of $5000, Joe Rubin, 48, owner of Show Time, night club in Warrenton st., South End, will be given a hearing, July 10, in municipal court on a charge of manslaughter in the shooting death of Guy Formica, 35, of Plymouth, a friend of one of the nitery's blonde entertainers.

Formica died at City Hospital five hours after he was shot near the club. Police said Rubin, who wept when arraigned before Special Justice Elias Shamon, had a permit to carry a gun, but not the gun used in the killing.

'Mayor' No. 3 at Bat In Cambridge Row

"Mayor" Michael A. Sullivan, self-styled successor to Cambridge Mayor John H. Corcoran, today had company in the claim and Cambridge had not one mayor, not two, but THREE.

The latest claimant to the title, City Councilor Hyman Pill, entered the mayor's office in City Hall as Sullivan was entertaining the press and announced that HE, not Sullivan, was mayor.

Taken back by this competition from an unexpected quarter, "Mayor No. 2" turned on his rival and shouted:

"What're you talking about, I'm still mayor."

GET INTO MAYOR'S OFFICE

"Mayor" Sullivan and "Mayor" Pill had no trouble getting into the office usually occupied by Mayor Corcoran as the police guard was absent. Chief Timothy F. Leahy explained the order for a guard was effective for yesterday only.

"Mayor" Pill, after listening quietly to "Mayor" Sullivan's claim to the post, calmly took a seat on a bench in the office and reminded the Kerry Corner councilor the charter provided for the councilor, senior in age and service, to be acting-mayor in the absence of Mayor Corcoran and Vice Chairman Francis L. Sennott.

"So you can see, Mike, I'm mayor," Pill finished.

PILL ORDERED OUT

"Mayor" Sullivan then suggested that Pill join him at the mayor's desk for a conference. The fact photographers were present was obviously a factor considered by Sullivan in making the suggestion.

When Pill refused, Sullivan came from behind the desk and ordered Pill out of the office . . . while cameras clicked and flattering profiles were made of Sullivan).

"If you've got no business to discuss, then there's no reason for you being here," Sullivan declared, with an imperious finger pointing toward the door.

Pill smiled pleasantly. He said he was waiting for Mayor Corcoran to arrive.

Sullivan had that impending event on his mind, too. He told photographers they had better "get your pictures fast and get out before we're all thrown out."

He took the occasion to announce that "high Democratic state leaders" had urged him to run for the Democratic senatorial nomination against Corcoran. He said they wanted him to be a sticker candidate "to test my popularity and strength with Corcoran."

"I'll give my decision later this week," he said, evidently forgetting Thursday is late in any week.

Meanwhile, throughout City Hall crowds were gathered anticipating an interesting scene when Mayor Corcoran returns to face "Mayor No. 1" and "Mayor No. 2."

One wag observed that if Corcoran "don't get here quick, the War Manpower Commission will send two of these three out for jobs in the Navy Yard, being as how Cambridge needs only one mayor."

Many Families Serve Country

By HUCK FINNEGAN

EIGHTH AIR FORCE, England—Sgt. Sam Lima, 26 Ryder st., North Dartmouth, holds the course record of 65 at the Paskamansett Golf Club and shares in another record that will be difficult to beat. Sam is one of six sons of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lima, all six of whom not only are in the service, but are veterans of foreign wars. In addition, a sister is in the WAVES.

Here is the complete list:

Joseph, 33, Merchant Marine, killed in Naples while on shore job.

Clarence, 29, with ordnance in England.

Ralph, 27, in infantry in South Pacific.

Sam, 26, in Air Corps in England.

Elias, 24, in Navy in Pacific.

Russell, 21, with Marines in South Pacific since Guadalcanal.

Betty, 30, in WAVES at Bethesda, Md.

Sam caddied during his boyhood. After graduating from Dartmouth High he worked as a machinist in the Continental Machinery Co., New Bedford, between rounds on the golf course. He is one of those rare birds who actually likes Army life. "I weighed 137 when I was inducted; now I'm up to 154." Sam is a bomb trainer with the Eighth Air Force.

Pvt. Nicolo Anguilo, 95 Prince st., North End, is not with the Eighth Air Force, but his family has given almost as heavily as the Limas, and where Sam Lima is single, Nicolo is married, and has a daughter, Janice, 17 mos., whose picture he treasures highly.

Here's the Anguila family record:

Nicolo, 28, with engineers in England.

Jerry, 23, Navy in Pacific.

Frankie, 21, Navy.

Danny, 20, on destroyer escort in Atlantic.

Anthony, 18, in Navy in Florida.

"I've seen you in Barsanti's," said Nicolo. Yeh, and what was he doing there? "My father owns a grocery store at Prince st., and I worked for him. Sold Barsanti's olive oil, cheese, macaroni, etc. I didn't hang around there. My spot was Buckley's gym. Used to like to listen to Jack Sharkey and the rest. Say, how's Tony Shucco making out on his comeback?"

PFC Maurice Anctil, 38 Tolles st., Nashua, N. H., isn't quite sure whether he has three or four brothers in the service, but believes that when August rolls 'round he will have five. Scan this list:

Wilfred, Jr., 27, Navy.

Roland, 25, up for physical weeks ago, but Maurice hasn't heard the outcome.

Pvt. Gerard, 23, with artillery in New Guinea since March, 1942.

Cpl. Leo, crew chief in air corps in Italy.

Maurice, 20, commissary dept., Eighth Air Force.

Conrad, who is due to go in August when he reaches his 18th birthday.

SGT. JOSEPH L. PICARD
Woonsocket

Like Sam Lima, Anctil is enthused about Army life.

"This is fun," he beamed. "Plenty of company, and the work's not hard. I've gone from 122 pounds at induction to 145, and feel great.

"Not only that, but I found a sweetheart when I was stationed at Drew Field, Tampa. Her name is Celia Fernandez, and I'm going to marry her when I get home.

Sgt. Joseph L. Picard, 109 Roland st., Woonsocket, has three brothers in the service, and if the 38-45 bracket hadn't been closed quite so early, his father might be in, too. Here is the Picard's record:

Maurice, 19, with Marines in South Pacific.

Raymond, 20, with paratroopers in Europe.

Wilfred, 21, in infantry in England.

Joseph, 25, in air force in England.

"Mother died some time ago and there are no sisters, so when we all enlisted it looked as if father (Aime) was going, too, because he was still under 45. I wonder how he would have looked in a uniform," beamed Joe. "He's only 5-4."

Tomorrow:

"The Kings of Swing" from Bennington, Vt., serenades Huck Finnegan when he visits the Sad Sack Shack of the 8th Air Force to get news of boys from Brighton and Danbury, Ct. Read about them in tomorrow's article in the Boston American.

350 Nazis Quit, 'Honor' Intact

By CLARK LEE

CHERBOURG, June 28—2 p. m. (delayed) (INS)—Doughboys know today that the Germans have a strong, but puzzling, sense of military honor. They do not consider it disgraceful to surrender, provided they can be convinced they are facing superior forces. But first they hav eto be shown.

One of the strangest incidents involving such a demonstration occurred the day before Cherbourg fell when a platoon of a regiment commanded by a colonel nicknamed Mack was stopped by a strong German fortress.

Hoping to spare the lives of his men, Mack sent for a loudspeaker truck of the publicity and psychological warfare section commanded by David S. Page of New York, last publisher of the defunct Literary Digest.

Page, Mack and the truck crew of four, drove the sound apparatus along a road directly in front of the enemy positions where Mack, who speaks fluent German, started to broadcast, telling the Nazis they were surrounded and might as well give up.

10 ALLIES CAPTURE 350

While the speech was in progress, Page was sitting in a Jeep with the driver, Pvt. Rudy Garcia of San Antonio, Tex., down the road. They noticed a movement behind the hedgerow and soon the Germans began to file out.

Finally there was a total of 350 Nazis guarded by Garcia, the 10-man patrol and the four British operators. Among them was a lieutenant colonel in shiny black field boots and wearing a rimless monocle. He told Mack he had another force of several hundred men a mile away.

"I haven't come to surrender, but to negotiate for terms," the Nazi officer said.

Mack replied, "My terms are unconditional surrender."

WANTS SURRENDER SHOW

"But I couldn't honorably surrender to the force I see here," the Nazi replied. "I will have to see an overwhelming force. If you haven't such a force, you will have to show me weapons of such strength I will be unable to resist."

"I'll be glad to co-operate in such a demonstration," Mack replied. "What do you suggest?"

After a lengthy discussion with the three neatly-dressed lower officers, he German asked, "have you any white phosphorus mortar grenades?"

"We have no mortars," Mack confessed. "Will phosphorus grenades do?"

After another huddle, the German said, "yes, with enough prosphorus grenades you would be able to drive a hole in our position."

"How many grenades are necessary?" Mack asked.

"Five," said the German.

A search revealed there were only three among the American patrol, plus two thermite grenades tied to steering wheels of military vehicles to destroy them in case of threatened capture. But the Germans decided these would do and the lieutenant-colonel said to Mack, "Now, we'll go to my position and throw the grenades."

Mack replied politely, "I hardly think that's necessary. After all, the object is not to take the position, but to show what could be done if we actually attacked. Why shouldn't we use this wheat field to demonstrate?"

The German approved, so Mack took one grenade, gave one to Page, one to Garcia, one to an infantry lieutenant and one to the British truck operator so all forces were represented.

"Throw your grenades," he ordered, and the five missiles went lobbing into the field and exploded, causing fire and smoke.

The party then walked back to the road where the German adjusted his monocle, clicked his heels and said, "I am your prisoner. In the name of my garrison, I surrender."

300 In USO Show Tryouts

By ALICE BISSELL

Pretty girls, music, and comedy—in that order—cheer up the souls of American soldiers and give them gayer hearts to go on fighting.

Realizing that entertainment of the boys is one of the necessary weapons needed to win the war, the USO Camp Shows discovered GI Joe's preferences from surveys taken all over the world.

His wishes will be dished out to him royally after try-outs at the Hotel Statler for shows to go all over this country and overseas to our fighting men.

Three hundred men and women from all over New England put on their acts before the Camp Show's travelling talent scout, Arthur Seeling, who is combing the country for the finest performers on the home front. He explained that many of the top entertainers are in the war and that it has been necessary to sign up the best talent they can find.

With their guitars, violins, songs, jokes and dances, men and women, old and young, rallied today with a promise of a six-weeks' contract to one of the greatest needs of the war, that of giving the soldiers a few laughs and a few pretty tunes.

Many entertainers, such as Jean Evans of Pertshire rd., Brighton, have been keeping a regular job during the days and giving shows at local Army camps every night. Dorothy Reed, 18., of Newport, Vt., came way down to put on her contortionist act.

Saddest in the crowd was 14-year-old Sonny Travers of Windsor st., Cambridge, who found to him dismay that you had to be 18 to compete.

Anti-Measles Serum Available

CHICAGO, June 29 (AP)—A new medicine to prevent measles, a discovery used so far only by the armed forces, is to be made available to the people of the United States at cost, the American Red Cross announced today.

The preventive, called immune serum globulin, is obtained from the blood contributed by citizens.

Recent studies disclosed that the serum contains all the blood's anti-bodies, the substances which provide immunity after one has had a particular disease. So far it has been used only for measles.

Lamb, Cheese Again Rationed, Steak Up

WASHINGTON, June 29 (AP)—Choice lamb cuts and some cheeses go back on the ration list Sunday and current values on beef steaks and roasts go up one to two points a pound, the Office of Price Administration announced.

The new red point chart, covering the period through July 29, continues butter at 12 points a pound and margarine at two. Cheddar cheese remains at 10 points a pound, but the so-called perishable varieties, ration-free the last 10 days, go back on the list at four points a pound, instead of at the 10-point value they had previously.

Except for choice beef and lamb, all meat—including canned varieties—remains point-free. So does canned fish. But the ration of canned milk is hiked to 2-3 of a point a pound, up from half a point.

$30,000,000 In Bonds Needed

The 5th War Loan drive entered its home stretch today needing a total of $300,000,000 in the nine days to reach the State's goal of $828,000,000.

Included in the deficit yet to be met is $80,000,000 in Series E bonds, known as the people's bonds.

The drive for a new buying surge came as the War Finance Committee set a day in which $215,000,000 was poured into government coffers, boosting the Massachusetts total to $523,600,000, or 63.2 percent of the quota. The $215,0000, a record for a single day's sales here, was attributed to big buying by institutions and banks.

Sales of E bonds rose to $32,700,000, or 29.2 per cent of the $112,000,000 quota for this type of bond. Nevertheless, although E bond sales are running ahead of the Fourth War Loan, Treasury officials warned much hard work remains to carry the drive over the top.

War Finance Committee spokesmen pointed out that with no drive on, May sales of E bonds totaled $23,246,000.

Paper Sale Nets Charity $39,800

Charities have received a total of $39,800 from funds obtained through sale of waste paper and scrap tin, Mayor Tobin announced today.

This amount, he said, was in addition to $2300 spent for war bonds awarded to war winners in the monthly drawings of contributors, and for prizes in a public and parochial school essay contest.

Of the salvage funds, $12,000 went to the Red Cross; $10,000 to the United War Fund; $2000 to the Massaachusetts Committee on Infantile Paralysis; $2000 to the Knights of Columbus to help finance its servicemen's center; $1000 each to the Salvation Army and the Jewish Welfare Board; $500 to the Mayor's Field Day Fund, and $100 to the Servicemen's Committee.

In addition, $11,000 was contributed to provide free summer vacations for under-privileged children, the money being furnished to various agencies which provide such care.

The salvage committee also authorized expenditure of $500 for the aid of patients at the Veterans' Hospital, West Roxbury, and $50 weekly for their cigarette purchases.

Priest Holds Prayer Crusade for Duration

The Rev. Edward F. King of St. Philip's Church, South End, is conducting a novena and crusade of prayer every Monday at 7:30 p. m. as long as the war lasts.

A feature of the service is the weekly reading of letters and poems sent home by those in the armed services—messages which Fr. King has announced as a manifestation of a great spiritual awakening among our fighting men.

Saltonstall Aid Asked In Pay Freeze Order

Employes of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. today appealed to Gov. Saltonstall to use his influence in an effort to modify an order from Stabilization Director Vinson nullifying a bonus payment.

The Vinson order was issued from Washington after the New England War Labor Board sought approval of the bonus by the national WLB. Approximately 2000 employes would benefit.

"I've been 'Cover Girl' many times on big national magazines. But first, I had to learn how to stay 'picture-lovely' under wilting photographer's lights," says intriguing Frances Donelon.

"I had to find a deodorant that really kept my underarms dry. And didn't ruin the expensive clothes I model in. I found it in Odorono Cream!

"Here's the reason . . . it contains a really effective perspiration stopper that simply closes the tiny underarm sweat glands and keeps them closed up to 3 days!

"It's safe, too—even after shaving and with lovely, delicate fabrics. I just follow directions. I like to use it every day.

"And you actually get up to 21 more applications for 39¢ than other leading deodorants give.

"I wish every girl who is concerned about her personal daintiness would try this wonderful Cover-Girl formula for glamour—Odorono Cream."

De Gaulle and British Agree on Currency

LONDON, June 29 (AP) — Britain and Gen. Charles De Gaulle's French national committee were reported today to have reached an agreement on civil administration and currency for use in liberated French territory.

A formal draft of the agreement eventually will be forwarded to Washington for possible suggestions.

Trees on Cape Ruined by Caterpillars

Moths and caterpillars, mountaining millions, are virtually eating up Cape Cod, and total destruction faces the South Shore landscape unless immediate and extensive remedial measures are taken, H. L. Ramsey, moth superintendent of the Department of Conservation, announced today upon his return from a two-day inspection of the area.

Devastation of white pine and oak trees from Hingham on the Massachusetts Bay side and Wareham on the Buzzards Bay side to the tip of the Cape is the worst in 17 years, Ramsey said as he urged the South Shore cities and towns to make elaborate and costly plans to halt the forest destruction.

In that area 80 per cent of white pine trees have been stripped of needles and almost every oak tree has been denuded, Ramsey explained. In the Eastham district, he said, destruction of white pine trees is 100 per cent.

Labor shortage and the mistaken belief that last winter's cold would kill off the vast number of egg clusters on the trees whence the caterpillars and moths spring are responsible for the increasing devastation, Ramsey stated.

He explained that when white pine trees are completely bereft of needles they die and cannot be replaced; and, when oak trees have been stripped two or three years in succession complicating diseases kill them.

Last winter's mildness, the lack of tree spraying and five weeks of drought extended the hatching period and brought forth unprecedented number of parasites.

Ramsey said he anticipates a condition as bad or worse next year unless the Cape cities and towns get busy with a comprehensive precautionary campaign.

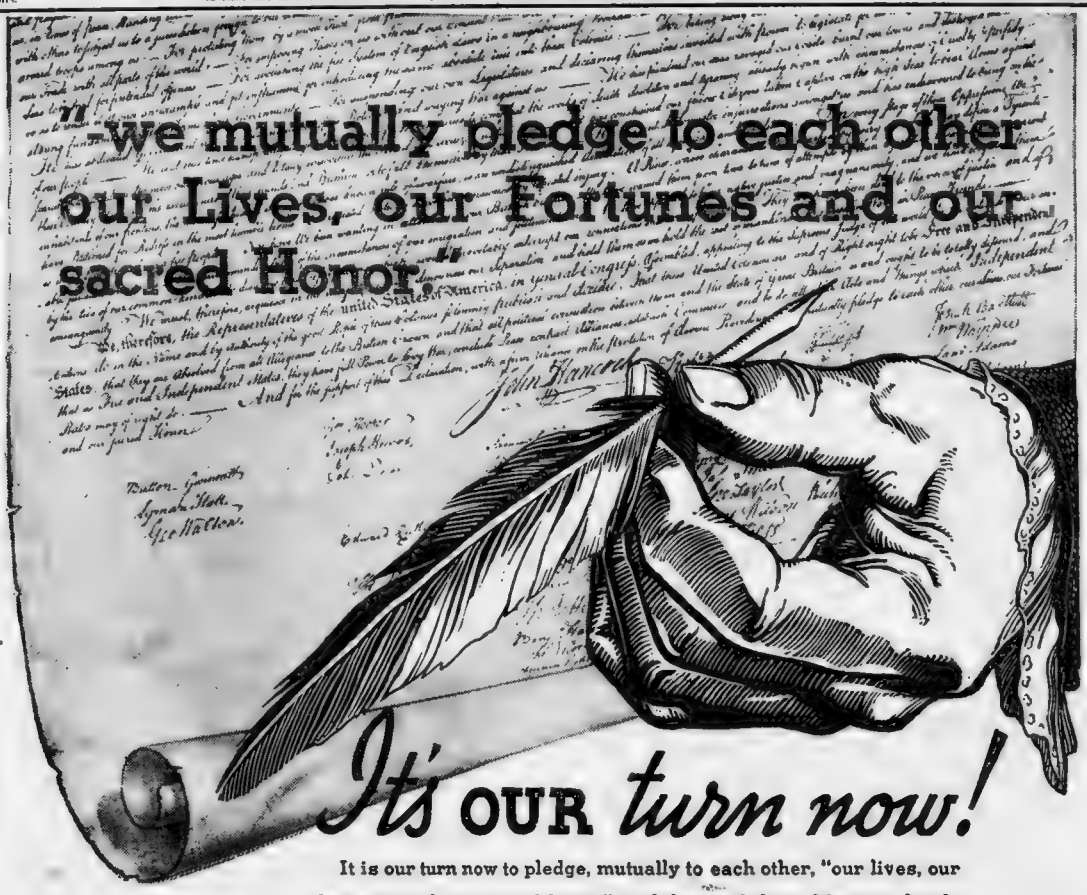
"we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor"



It's OUR turn now!

It is our turn now to pledge, mutually to each other, "our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor" in defense of those liberties dearly won through courage, faith and sacrifice. For this nation, and all for which it stands, millions of Americans have pledged their lives and thousands have already redeemed that pledge. We who remain at home can only redeem our pledge of sacred honor by backing those who face our enemies to the utmost limits of our strength and of our fortunes.

A Lexington housewife, of Revolutionary stock, has written a patriotic song, "My Home Land."

The author, Mrs. Arthur G. Bernier, 300 Bedford st., Lexington, is the great-great-granddaughter of John Cheney, who fought the Redcoats on Lexington Green in 1775.

Mrs. Bernier said yesterday her song expresses "the thrills that run up and down my spine whenever Old Glory passes, put into words and music.

HATCH SHELL

John C. Nicodemus of Kennedy's, in charge of the program of events on the retail merchants' bond committee, is arranging to have Mrs. Bernier's song rendered and amplified from the Hatch Shell on the Esplanade during the three-hour INVASION BOND SHOW program. The words of Mrs. Bernier's song, which is copyrighted, follow:

"MY HOME LAND, MY OWN LAND, THE USA,
With peace born of good will toward men,
In the true American way,

"MY HOME LAND, MY OWN LAND, THE USA,
I pledge allegiance to her flag,
With pride her laws obey.

"And for my love and loyalty,
I reap a golden royalty;
Freedom from want; freedom from fear;
Pray as I wish; let my voice ring out clear.

"MY HOME LAND, MY OWN LAND, THE USA,
No finer model for One World,
God bless the American way."

Mrs. Dewey Scores Hit With Delegates

By INEZ ROBB

CHICAGO, June 28 (INS)—The woman nobody knows, Frances Hutt Dewey, sat on the rostrum at the Republican national convention with shy, rapt and solemn visage as her husband, Thomas E. Dewey, delivered a fighting acceptance address to the G.O.P. presidential nomination.

There was pride on the face of this slim, very pretty woman. But there was neither joy nor exultation. Instead she seemed burdened with the sudden realization of the awful responsibilities that might be her husband's—and incidentally hers—if the Republican party sweeps to victory.

There was no doubt of the delight with which the cheering, perspiring multitudes looked at her.

WORE BLACK

They saw a lovely woman who does not look her 41 years by at least a margin of eight to ten years. Her reed-slim dress of black crepe was the acme of simplicity, with short sleeves. Two white orchids were fastened to one shoulder of the dress, and a double strand of pearls was twisted around her throat. She wore elbow-length black suede gloves.

Her softly curling brown hair, cut in bob, neither long nor short, was topped by a half hat of black Milan straw.

There were two members of her family in the stadium who were beamingly proud of their Frances and her Tom. They were Mr. and Mrs. Orla Thomas Hutt of Sapulpa, Okla., parents of the woman who may be the next First Lady.

"It's so wonderful, I just couldn't tell you how I feel!" Mrs. Hutt declared.

"Did you ever envision her in this present role?" Mrs. Dewey's mother was asked.

"No, but she's the girl for it!" quickly declared the mother.

PROUD OF BOTH

Mr. Hutt, a retired railroad fireman, smiled serenely and declared.

"I never quite pictured our Frances in this role, but she fits it well I'm awfully proud of them both And wasn't that a wonderful speech of Tom's?"

Frances Hutt Dewey looks like the kind of woman who would do the nation proud as chatelaine of the White House. And you can't look better than that

DISAPPOINTED—The camera caught these tow feminine supporters of Gov. Bricker as they wept after the Ohioan stepped aside in his fight for the presidential nomination in favor of New York's Gov. Dewey.'

Farley Right

ST. LOUIS, June 29 (AP)—James A. Farley predicted the Republican presidential and vice-presidential candidates at a press conference here March 17.

"You can put it down as Dewey and Bricker on the Republican slate. And don't forget that," Farley told reporters on that date.

Can Be Youngest President

CHICAGO, June 29 (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey, if elected, would become the nation's youngest President—by 20 days.

He is 42—was born March 24, 1902—and if elected will be inaugurated Jan. 20, 1945, or 63 days before his 43d birthday.

Theodore Roosevelt also was 42 when he became President, upon the death, by assassination, of William McKinley on Sept. 14, 1901. But that was only 43 days before Teddy's 43d birthday. He was born Oct. 27, 1858.

There have been only five other Presidents under 50 when inaugurated—James K. Polk, 49, Franklin Pierce, 48, U. S. Grant, 46, James A. Garfield, 49, and Grover Cleveland, 47.

Following is the text of Thomas E. Dewey's address accepting the presidential nomination:

I am profoundly moved by the trust you have placed in me. I deeply feel the responsibility which goes with your nomination for President of the United States at this grave hour of our nation's history.

That I have not sought this responsibility, all of you know. I told the people of my state, two years ago, that it was my intention to devote my full term as governor exclusively to their service. You have decided otherwise.

In accordance with the principles of our republican form of government you have laid upon me the highest duty to which an American can be called. No one has a right to refuse that call. With the help of God, I shall try to be worthy of the trust. I accept the nomination.

I come to this great task a free man I have made no pledges, promises or commitments, expressed or implied, to any man or woman. I shall make none, except to the American people.

Specific Pledges

These pledges I do make:

To name and women of the Republican Party everywhere I pledge my utmost efforts in the months ahead. In return, I ask for your support. Without it, I cannot discharge the heavy obligation you lay upon me.

To Americans of every party I pledge that on January 20th next year our government will again have a cabinet of the ablest men and women to be found in America. Its members will expect and will receive full delegation of the powers of their office. They will be capable of administering those powers. They will each be experienced in the task to be done and young enough to do it. This election will bring an end to one-man government in America.

To Americans of every party I pledge a campaign dedicated to one purpose, and above all others—that this nation under God may continue in the years ahead a free nation of free men.

At this moment on battlegrounds around the world Americans are dying for the freedom of our country. Their comrades are pressing on in the face of hardship and suffering. They are pressing on for total victory and for the liberties of all of us.

Everything we say or do today and in the future must be devoted to the single purpose of that victory. Then, when victory is won, we must devote ourselves with equal unity of purpose to revitalizing at home the freedoms they have won at such desperate cost abroad.

To our Allies let us send from this convention one message from our hearts: The American people are united with you to the limit of our resources, and our manpower, devoted to the single task of victory and the establishment of a firm and lasting peace

Message to Axis

To every member of the Axis powers let us send this message: By this political campaign, which you are unalue to understand, our will to victory will be strengthened, and with every day you further delay surrender the consequences to you will be more severe.

That we shall win this war none of us and few of our enemies can now have any doubt. But how we win this war is of major importance for the years ahead. We won the last war but it did not stay won. This time we must also win the purposes for which we are fighting Germany must never again nourish the delusion that she could have won. We must carry to Japan a defeat so crushing and complete that every last man among them knows that he has been beaten. We must not merely defeat the armies and navies of our enemies, we must defeat, once and for all, their will to make war. In their hearts as well as with their lips, let them be taught to say: "Never again."

The military conduct of the war is outside this campaign. It is and must remain completely out of politics. Gen. Marshall and Admiral King are doing a superb job. Thank God for both of them. Let me make it crystal clear that a change of administration next January cannot and will not involve any change in the military conduct of the war. If there is not now any civilian interference, with the military and naval commands, a change in administration will not alter that status. If there is civilian interference the new administration will put a stop to it forthwith.

But the war is being fought on the home front as well as abroad While all of us are deeply proud of the military conduct of the war, can we honestly say that the home front could not bear improvement?

The present administration in Washington has been in office for more than 11 years. Today, it is at war with Congress, and at war with itself. Squabbles between cabinet members, feuds between rival bureaucrats and bitterness between the President and his own party members, in and out of Congress, have become the order of the day. In the vital matters of taxation, price control, rationing, labor relations, manpower, we have become familiar with the spectacle of wrangling, bungling and confusion.

Does anyone suggest that the present nation al administration is giving either efficient or consistent government? We have not heard that claim made, even by its most fanatical supporters. No, all they tell us is that in its young days it did some good things. That we freely grant. But it has grown old in office. It has become tired and quarrelsome. It seems that the great men who founded this nation really knew what they were talking about when they said three terms were too many.

When we have won the war, we shall have to win the peace. We are agreed, all of us, that America will participate with other sovereign nations in a co-operative effort to prevent future wars. Let us face up boldly to the magnitude of that task. We shall not make secure the peace of the world by mere words. We can not do it simply by drawing up a fine-sounding treaty. It cannot be the work of one man or a little group of rulers who meet together in private conference. The structure of peace must be built. It must be the work of many men. We must have at our representatives in this task

IT HAS NEVER BEEN FOR FULL PRODUCTION. IT HAS LIVED IN CHATTERING FEAR OF ABUNDANCE. IT HAS SPECIALIZED IN CURTAILMENT AND RESTRICTION. IT HAS BEEN CONSISTENTLY HOSTILE TO AND ABUSIVE OF AMERICAN BUSINESS AND AMERICAN INDUSTRY. ALTHOUGH IT IS IN BUSINESS AND INDUSTRY THAT MOST OF US MAKE OUR LIVING.

In all the record of the past eleven years is there anything that suggests the present administration can bring about high-level employment after this war? Is there any reason to believe that those who have so signally failed in the past can succeed in the future? The problem of jobs will not be easily solved; but it will never be solved at all unless we get a new, progressive administration in Washington—and that means a Republican administration

For 150 years America was the hope of the world. Here on this great broad continent we had wrought into being something for which men had longed throughout all history. Here, all men were held to be free and equal. Here, power's most derived its just powers from the consent of the governed. Here men believed passionately in freedom, independence—the God-given right of the individual to be his own master.

Yet, with all of this freedom—I insist—because of this freedom—ours was a land of plenty. In a fashion unequalled anywhere else in the world, America grew and strengthened; our standard of living became the envy of the world.

In all lands, men and women looked toward America as the pattern of what they, themselves, desired. And because we were what we were, good will flowed toward us from all corners of the earth. As Americans were welcomed everywhere, and looked upon with admiration and regard.

Counsels of Defeat

At times, we had our troubles; made our share of mistakes; but we faltered only to go forward with renewed vigor. It remained for this past 11 years, under the present national administration, that continuing unemployment to be accepted with resignation as the inevitable condition of a nation past its prime.

It is the new deal which tells us that America has lost its youth, that it is grey. We shall have to build a better world by listening to those counsels of defeat.

Is America old and worn out? Look to the beaches of Normandy for the answer. Look to the reaches of the wide Pacific—to the corners of the world where American men are fighting. Look to the marvels of production in the war plants in your own towns. I say to you: our country is just fighting its way through to new horizons. The future of America has no limit.

True, we now pass through dark and troubled times. Scarcely a home escapes the touch of dread anxiety and grief; yet in this hour the American spirit rises, faith returns—faith in our God, faith in our fellowman, faith in the land our fathers died to win, faith in the future, limitless and bright, of this, our country.

In the name of that great faith we shall carry our cause in the coming months to the American people.

Dewey Praises Bricker

CHICAGO, June 29—Gov. Dewey departed from his prepared speech last night to say:

"I am happy and proud to be associated with my good friend from the State of Ohio, John W. Bricker.

"For many months John Bricker has gone from state to state telling the people of the issues, of the great need for a better government, for the sound principles of government, and the leadership which will come to it with a Republican victory this year.

"Never before have I seen such good statesmanship and good sportsmanship as that displayed by John Bricker here, and I am proud to be associated with him."

British Told GOP Conclave Apathetic

LONDON, June 29 (AP)—War news kept stories of the Republican convention in Chicago on the inside pages of British newspapers today and the average Briton showed only mild interest in the nomination of Gov. Dewey.

Although the papers gave full reports they were more or less routine and British correspondents generally expressed the opinion the convention was apathetic.

Only the London News-Chronicle carried an editorial on the subject, saying: "The platform commits the party to participation in some form of world organization. Admittedly its terms are somewhat woolly—all the same, this is a very different state of affairs from that who heasisted in 1920."

The Daily Mail's New York correspondent wrote:

"It may be stated frankly that the Republican convention does not seem too confident of its chances of defeating the Democrats. There is no victory mood in Chicago."

Under a Chicago dateline, the Daily Express correspondent wrote "The partly-filled stands remained as proof of the general apathy that has attended the greatest Republican convention ever

Dewey, Bricker Hold Reception

CHICAGO, June 29 (AP) In a reception that rivaled those at the White House before the war cut short social activities there, Gov and Mrs. Thomas E. Dewey and Gov. and Mrs. John W. Bricker shook hands with hundreds of Republicans and, possibly, some Democrats.

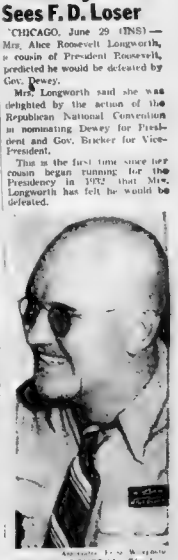
A line four abreast circled the mammoth grand ballroom of the Stevens Hotel, Dewey's headquarters, and the two nominees were greeting friends long after midnight.

Alice Longworth Sees F. D. Loser

CHICAGO, June 29 (INS)—Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, cousin of President Roosevelt, predicted he would be defeated by Gov. Dewey.

Mrs. Longworth said she was delighted by the action of the Republican National Convention in nominating Dewey for President and Gov. Bricker for Vice-President.

This is the first time since her cousin began running for the Presidency in 1932 that Mrs. Longworth has felt he would be defeated.



FOR THE GENERAL—The lone delegate to vote for Gen. MacArthur for the presidential nomination was Grant Ritter, 55-year-old Wisconsin farmer . . . above. Dewey got the other 1056 votes cast.

A Great American Ticket

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY has nominated a truly GREAT national ticket.

It has given the country the great hope and inspiration which naturally and inevitably attend such a ticket.

Governor Thomas Edmund Dewey of New York is a statesman of the widest experience and highest attainments.

He will rank with the great Americans of his time, on the strength of his past accomplishments.

He will rank with the great American Presidents of all time, if he is elected—as he surely should be, and as he WILL be if the free and enlightened expression of public opinion is registered at the November polls.

Governor John William Bricker of Ohio is an American civil servant and public administrator of unsurpassed experience and attainments.

He is already a great American in the esteemed recognition of his countrymen.

He will give prestige and authority to the office of Vice-President which it has seldom had in the history of the nation.

The nominations of these two fine American statesmen, long held in the deepest affection and highest trust by the American people and now candidates for the most responsible and important public offices within the gift of the American people, reflect superb credit upon the Republican party and its alert and loyal national convention.

They surely and completely reflect the clear wishes and the vital interests of the American people.

GOVERNOR DEWEY and Governor Bricker unquestionably constitute the strongest ticket the Republican party, or any representative American group, could select.

They are strong in experience.

They are strong in personal integrity.

They are strong in the enthusiasm they inspire.

They are strong in the confidence they create.

They are strong in their own sublime faith in the democratic institutions of America, in the wholesome and unerring history and traditions of America, in the glorious heritage of American freedom and opportunity.

They will bring back government REPRESENTATIVE of the people.

They will restore government responsive and RESPONSIBLE to the people.

They will establish government that respects and honors and ADHERES to the Constitution of the United States.

They will reject and abhor bureaucratic tyranny.

They will despise and abstain from dictatorial and totalitarian aspiration to and usurpation of oppressive powers.

The American democratic system has been tried and PROVED in the nominations of Governor Dewey and Governor Bricker for President and vice-president.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY has given the nation more than a Republican ticket, more than a Presidential ticket.

It has produced an AMERICAN TICKET to which all the American people can rally without considerations of politics or partisanship.

It offers America the quickest, safest and surest way out of the dark and tragic ordeal of war.

It offers America the blessing of peace in which the sanctity of free home and family will be safeguarded.

It offers America a government under democratic American law, and not under the despotic edicts of willful and ambitious and power-grasping men.

The AMERICAN ticket of Dewey and Bricker can and must and WILL be elected.

This is America's timely and glowing OPPORTUNITY to throw off the shackles of bureaucratic tyranny, the festering sores of which are already spreading infectious poisons throughout the whole governmental structure of the land.

The American people will not miss this providential chance—potentially and probably their very LAST chance—to be free again, and to assure freedom to those entitled to inherit the free lands of their fathers.

CHICAGO, June 29—Just as Chairman Joe Martin was banging his bung-starter to launch Wednesday's session of the Republican Convention, a member of the New York delegation came bustling in all out of breath.

This delegate was all out of breath, and, in a moment or so, all the other delegates within 20 feet began to wish they were, too. The gentleman smelled strongly of a cow.

"I am sorry for being late," the tardy one puffed. "But I have just been riding around the stockyards with Pete Cudahy."

A lady delegate, her nose making alarming gyrations, said she hoped Mr. Cudahy was well. The late arrival replied that it was nice of her to ask, and that Mr. Cudahy seemed to be in excellent health.

"I am delighted to hear that," said the lady. "I was afraid you had been riding around with someone long defunct."

The tardy delegate was identified as David Dows, once known as the "Millionaire Sheriff." He is the newest member of the New York State racing commission, having succeeded Jock Whitney and was formerly sheriff of Nassau County. He is very rich from having money.

According to his account, he got up at 5 a. m. today and went out to the stockyards where Mr. Cudahy lent him a pair of cowboy chaps and a pony.

"But," protested the lady delegate, "we're here to choose a candidate for president, not to look at cows."

"I know that," replied Mr. Dows, "but the cow situation is unsettled. The matter of a presidential candidate seems to be more in hand."

ONE OF THE MOST harassed men at this conclave was Roy D. Moore, manager for Governor Bricker. After the convention opened he had been dashing hither and yon madly, so unusually he was a very hard man to find.

A delegate went up to Bricker headquarters one afternoon and asked for Mr. Moore. The lady receptionist said she had no idea of his whereabouts.

"I must see him," panted the delegate. "Do you have any idea where I could look?"

"I don't know," said the lady. "Have you tried the Chicago river?"

I THOUGHT nylon stockings were almost impossible to obtain but about all I hear from the women folks attending convention sessions in the stadium is:

"These rough wooden benches certainly play the devil with my nylons!"

THERE WAS quite a lot of excitement around the Drake Hotel yesterday. A bellboy was overheard saying:

"Dewey is upstairs!"

This turned out to be true. But it was Rep. Charles Dewey of Illinois.

WELL, the darndest thing you ever heard of took place that afternoon when the California delegation held a caucus.

The chairman said the delegation was in a terrible quandry because it had received strict injunctions from Gov. Earl Warren not to support him for anything.

"This is a fine situation," the chairman said. "All we hear from Warren is 'Don't vote for me!' What are we going to do!"

One of the delegates had just gotten up to pour himself a drink. On hearing the chairman's last words he made it a double hooker. He added an eyedropper full of water and downed it in a gulp.

"I'll tell you what we'll do about Warren," he rumbled after regaining his breath. "We'll tell him to go plumb to h—— and vote for him!"

A CONVENTION like this is a wonderful leveler. People owning the most famous names wander around without causing a ruffle. Even Gracie Allen practically had to do nip-ups in the lobby to capture a passing glance.

Two of the most retiring delegates in the place were Cecil B. DeMille and David O. Selznick, the movie tycoons. Of course, they emerged later into their old glory because—as I recall from natural history class—a tycoon develops into a butterfly.

Both were members of the California delegation, but they were not saying anything—anything much, anyway.

I talked to Mr. Selznick, who made "Gone With the Wind," and asked him what was afoot.

"I can't say anything," he replied vaguely. "Don't forget that I'm a delegate!"

I told Mr. DeMille that this thing needed better showmanship and asked why he hadn't taken a hand.

"Nobody asked me," he said. "Don't forget—I'm a delegate!"

Neither Mr. De Mille nor Mr. Selznick seemed bitter about it. They just seemed like delegates.

I FOUND OUT today why we have been having indifferent success trying to kid with the lady floor clerks at the Stevens Hotel, which was convention headquarters.

Every one of them was a schoolteacher. They were rounded up and hired especially for this job.

ANOTHER of the many things promised in that beautiful postwar world is a radio set you can carry in your pocket. Won't it be wonderful when people riding home in the subway, bus or street cars start taking out their pocket radio sets and all tune in on different programs?

SAYS HE: "You state none of Bob Hope's six brothers has an outstanding sense of humor," writes Alfred Brower of the American Guild of Variety Artists. "Would like you to know his youngest brother, George, has more humor than Bob, is better looking and an excellent entertainer. He wrote a radio program, 'Give Me a Sentence,' that was very funny. He also received most of the laughs when he worked with Bob in vaudeville."

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—How are you doing on winning that box of cigars for listing 12 persons each named after a different month? A—Not so hot. I just can't find anybody named February, October or December. Looks as if I won't get the Havanas. So far I have: Lois January, Frederic March, Faith April, Tom May, Ray June, Robert July, Edwin August, Thursday September and Emmanuel November. Q—All right, I give up; what is the longest name in the Bible and where in the Good Book is a bottle of milk mentioned? A—Come, come my good man. Don't give up so easily. Fight on. Don't have your old Sunday School teacher blushing for you. Q—What is your favorite ice cream? A—I like spumoni best when made right, which it rarely is in restaurants. My favorite combination is raspberries on vanilla ice cream.

SURVIVORS: It was on June 15, 1904, the steamer General Slocum burned in the East River in New York and 1030 of its passengers perished. The organization of General Slocum survivors is still active. This organization originally had 450 members. Now it has 11. How about the survivors of Chicago's Iroquois Theater fire? Are they organized? Or those who survived the same city's steamer Eastland disaster? I am a survivor of a freight train hitting a sleigh in Northampton. The fellow with me survived, too. The horse did not.

Cissy Madden to Wed

By BETTY ALDEN

MARGARITA MADDEN, popularly known as Cissy and one of the Hub's outstanding socialite tennis players, will become the bride of Lt. Walter Nichols, Jr., USNR, according to announcement by her mother, Mrs. T. Richard Madden of Jamaica Plain.

Cissy is a seaman 1/c in the WAVES stationed in Washington. In her Winsor School days she walked off with a number of state and national tennis titles and also won her laurels as a figure skater. She left Smith in her junior year to join the WAVES and previously had made her debut at a garden party at her parents' home.

Her fiance is the son of Bishop Walter Nichols. He attended Kent School and Harvard and recently transferred to Pearl Harbor after a year in Washington.

Cissy is a cousin of Margot Lumb, the famous British tennis player, whose given name is also Margarita. Her mother and Mrs. Madden are sisters and were born in Cuba. In peacetime years Margot often visited here as the guest of Eleo Sears and played in national tournaments at Longwood. Mrs. Madden shares her daughter's love of tennis and can be found almost daily having a strenuous workout with tennis-minded friends on the Longwood courts.

The other evening this pretty post deb had a dancing date at the Copley-Plaza Oval Room for which she wore a festive citron and black printed silk accented with short black gloves which she kept on while dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stuart of West Newton and their vivacious daughter, Priscilla, who has a war job at MIT while her fiance is away on active duty, were in town for a little Oval Room gaiety. Mrs. Stuart acented her modish black faille with orchids and Priscilla chose an aqua and black flower print with black velvet bows.

A gay flowered toque completed the sophisticated black outfit worn by Mrs. Charles S. Toppan of Cambridge as she and her husband entertained friends for dinner. Jean McHale and Darby Almy of last year's deb crop looked pretty and gay for their dates and Joan Kuebler, a new debutante, had a whirl with two ensign escorts.

Dewey

predicted his first ballot nomination.

As the footweary convention crowds headed homeward, all signs pointed toward evolvement of a highly organized and unified drive between now and November.

What dissension there was appeared to melt away like a snowball under the hot Chicago sun when Gov. John E. Bricker of Ohio agreed to become Dewey's running mate, instead of his chief contender for top honors, and accepted the vice presidential nomination.

The two clasped hands on the convention stadium platform and exchanged remarks of mutual admiration and confidence in victory.

Typical of the resulting jubilant comments was that of Sen. Clyde Reed of Kansas, who said:

"We've got not only a match for Roosevelt but a master on the platform to carry the fight to him on his own front."

Youth against age was the predominant theme of Dewey's acceptance speech as he set out to follow Franklin D. Roosevelt's trail from the Executive Mansion in Albany to the White House via the Chicago nominating conventions. Mr. Roosevelt, too, flew to this city to accept the high honor in 1932.

The 42-year-old former racket-buster, in his opening statement to the American electoral jury last night, promised that "next year our government will again have a cabinet of the ablest men and women to be found in America."

"Its members," he declared, "will expect and will receive full delegation of the powers of their office. They will be capable of administering those powers. They will each be experienced in the task to be done and young enough to do it."

Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio, chairman of the platform committee, told reporters: "He stands on the platform 100 per cent."

Wendell L. Willkie, who came from behind to beat Dewey for the nomination in 1940 and who recently criticized the foreign policy plank as "ambiguous," congratulated Dewey and said he has "one of the great opportunities of history."

Nye Cutting Lead Held by Stambaugh

FARGO, N. D., June 29 (AP)—Gerald P. Nye, Republican U. S. Senator from North Dakota since 1925, seeking renomination, today continued to overtake the lead held by his anti-Isolationist opponent, Lynn U. Stambaugh, former national American Legion commander.

Stambaugh, advocate of U. S. participation in world affairs, had held a lead of 2500 votes but with 1817 of the state's 2251 precincts reported today, Nye slashed the lead to 626.

Democrats Must Ponder Over Bricker in Contest

CHICAGO, June 29 (AP)—As the Republican National Convention wound up here today, there still were plenty of political question marks but none bigger than what effect the nomination of Gov. John W. Bricker for vice president will have on the Democratic nomination for the same office.

Governor Bricker is a strong vice presidential nominee. Make no mistake about that. His long campaign for the presidential nomination is the only one in either party where policies have been laid on the line and a considerable portion of the United States covered.

The politicos who came here cool to Bricker were amazed at the strength he had, both in the locked-door hotel rooms and in popularity among the delegates.

When Gov. Earl Warren of California finally wrote himself out of the picture, there never was any further doubt that Bricker was the man.

Even in behind-the-scenes sparring the never-say-die Bricker backers were unanswerable. One argument put forward in session was the reminder of 1916, when Charles Evans Hughes, the GOP nominee went to bed thinking that he was the next President of the United States, only to awaken and discover that California had gone Democratic and given President Wilson the electoral majority.

A Bricker man was on his feet immediately. "If you want to take 1916 as an example," he said, "remember that Ohio went Democratic that year, too, but if it hadn't, we wouldn't even have had to worry about California."

Guess "handy" means...
"Which one?"
3-Ring "handy" means...
"BALLANTINE!"
Signs came before words; and we still talk with our hands. Mother's "handy" says "Baby's asleep!" Rehearsal "handy" says "Off key!" 3-Ring "handy" says "Ballantine Ale for me!" PURITY, BODY and FLAVOR in every glass!
America's finest since 1840.
Thinker's "handy" says . . . "With bottles so scarce, how can my dealer keep on supplying me with Ballantine unless I keep hurrying back the empty bottles?" How about returning your empties? Today? Thanks!

Accused Mother Weeps at Trial

EL CENTRO, Cal., June 29 (AP)—Mrs. Mildred Skelton wept quietly while a witness at her trial on a murder charge testified she saw the defendant walk down a Cloorado river bank with her baby in her arms, and return shortly afterwards alone.

The testimony was given through an interpreter by Mrs. Francisca Fregozo, housewife, as the prosecution started its attempt to prove Mrs. Skelton threw her 10-month-old daughter, Mildred Louise, into the river near Winterhaven, Cal., May 19.

Mrs. Skelton has pleaded innocent by reason of insanity.

Loew's Holds Musical Hit

Metro's star-jammed "Two Girls and a Sailor," now in its second week on Loew's twin screens, is proving one of the years big boxoffice pictures.

The story isn't much shakes but there is such a terrific amount of talent you'll never miss the scripter's contribution in this slick entertainment. Of course, Jimmy Durante . . . "That's my boy who said that" . . . is our odds-on favorite and he's in there clicking like a million. Other talented people in the cast are Van Johnson, June Allysn, Gloria De Haven, Jose Iturbe, Garcie Allen, Lena Horne, Harry James and his music-makers with Helen Forrest, Xavier Cugat and his orchestra with lovely Lina Romay, Tom Drake, Henry Stephens, Henry O'Neill, Ben Blue, Carlow Ramirez, Frank Sully, Albert Coates, Donald Meek, Amparo Novarro, Virginia O'Brien and the cute Wilde twins.

Metro's Technicolorful "Bathing Beauty" is to be given a single showing next Wednesday at 8:30 p m. at Loew's State Theater at a war bond premiere in the interest of the Fifth War Loan drive.

Tickets for this eye-filling screen sunburst of pulchritude are now being distributed at all local M & P theaters, RKO Boston and Keith Memorial and the State and Orpheum theaters.

A Message to Democrats from State Treasurer

Francis X. Hurley

My primary opponent, protected by his unexpired four-year term at $20,000 a year as mayor of the great Democratic city of Boston, made such over the years by real Democrats, men like Patrick A. Collins, Martin M. Lomasney, Josiah Quincy, John A. Keliher, Timothy F. Callahan, Leo M. Birmingham and Joseph McGrath, has allowed himself to be used as a stop-Hurley candidate. His candidacy is openly sponsored by the C. I. O. Political Action Committee, a group who do not believe in the principles of the Democratic Party and who were aptly described the other day by Congressman Philbin of Massachusetts as: ". . . international Communists, revolutionary Socialists, Syndicalists, and an assorted variety of social reform crackpots."

Such a candidacy presents a challenge which must be met.

Disciples of Browder, Dubinsky and Hillman, this group want to rule or ruin the Democratic Party in Massachusetts in this war-year election, while thousands of loyal Democrats are fighting for America. Great sums of money will be spent to defeat me. A smear campaign, the favorite weapon of this element, will unquestionably be used against me. I know, however, that you will not be fooled. July 11th will be YOUR DAY. If you vote American that day, you will vote for FRANCIS X. HURLEY FOR GOVERNOR.

'Tender Comrade' At Olympia, Scollay

The Ginger Rogers-starring "Tender Comrade," with RKO Radio's pride, Robert Ryan, in his first big role, today commences a week's run on the Washington St. Olympia and Scollay screens.

White 'Follies' At RKO Boston

George White's 1944 edition of his durable "Follies" opened a week's run at the RKO Boston today with such featured acts as Professor Backwards, Masters and Rollins, talented Miriam LaVelle, and the usual "lookers" of the chorus line.

The film half of the new stage-screen show is topped by "It Happened Tomorrow," which gives Dick Powell his first opportunity to upper register a rest and concentrate on a straight acting assignment. He plays a newspaper reporter who gets tomorrow's news today.

Tonight, the RKO Boston Bathing Beauty contest is to hold its opening session on the RKO Boston stage with scores of Newton Raytheon Production Corporation's most toothsome girl employes competing for cash awards and other prizes. The semi-finals will continue through the following three Thursdays, with the finals being held on Thursday, July 27. The contest is open to the public.

Hardy Film Tops New Modern Bill

"Andy Hardy's Blondie Trouble," latest in the popular family series, starring Mickey Rooney and Lewis Stone, moves to the Modern screen tomorrow for a week's run. The companion picture, "Tampico," stars Edward G. Robinson, Lynn Bari and Victor McLaglen in a thriller about our fighting Merchant Marine.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt writes every day for Boston American.

Get Your Tan Slowly

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

NOW THAT THE SUN is here . . . and, we hope, to stay . . . don't make the mistake of grabbing it all at one time . . . for the lovely tan you've been anxiously waiting so long to acquire. As a matter of fact . . . if week-ends and "two weeks with pay" will be your only out-of-doors time . . . you must not even ATTEMPT a deep bronze tan.

Be joyously satisfied with a cafe-au-lait coloring . . . gently and slowly acquired. Career gals and women who haven't the entire summer to loll leisurely on the beach . . . who must take the sun catch as catch can . . . must be mighty careful and sparing how they darken their complexions.

Not that the sun isn't good to get after a hard and fretful winter. But too much of even a good thing can do more harm than good to the delicate facial tissues . . . if you are indiscriminate in your sun tanning. It's not smart and the results are not pretty.

There's nothing attractive about a raw, red, hide-look . . . there's nothing lovely about a peeling facial derma. Being indoor gals most of the time . . . let's not run riot with ourselves the first chance we get to bask in the sun . . . let's spend the precious moments wisely . . . safeguarding the skin with a tried and tested precaution.

A sun-proof cream . . . product of one of the most famous names in the beauty world . . . has been evolved to help filter out the burning rays of the sun . . . and, when regularly applied, will create a smooth, lovely tan . . . and you'll be as proud as a peacock.

It is one thing to learn by experience . . . but don't make your lovely face the pawn in a costly experiment. This protective cream will help you welcome the sun . . . but in a sensible and thoughtful way. It is an ounce of prevention cream that will be more than worth a pound of cure.

For the name of this sun cream, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

THE SUN WON'T BE YOUR UNDOING if you take the basking warmth in slow and gentle doses . . . supplemented by a sun cream that will help develop a smooth, lovely darkening . . . becoming and attractive . . . in easy stages. Warner star Cheryl Walker has that happy look that comes with the just-right tanning.

'Decorate' Your Dress

By BETTINA BEDWELL

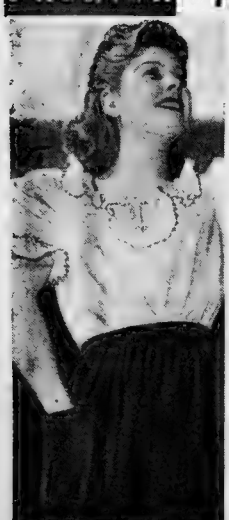
THERE are things you can do about your simple, not expensive clothes, to make them look like a lot more money. This treatment is particularly good just before you set off on your vacation, when you want to make the very best of yourselves.

Often it is the details of a dress that tell the expert whether it is an expensive, Grade A style or just one of many. By putting a good buckle on your belt, a really nice ornament on your dress to replace the one that is blatantly cheap, you lift it out of the cheap class, so far as looks go. Add something good and take away something shoddy is the rule that will do the trick.

Of course, you have to start with a dress that has decent lines to it, and that is nice in cut and color, but these are often not very expensive.

Fashion

Skirts With Pockets



MOST of those new dirndl-type skirts, worn with sweaters, blouses, jackets, or what-have-you, have huge pockets . . . some 13 inches deep . . . set in and stitched around the edge to give the patch effect. Universal Star Grace McDonald's "separates" consist of a green wool jersey skirt and cotton peasant blouse . . . trimmed with red rick-rack, and green and red peasant braid.—R. M.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK, Wednesday—Yesterday afternoon, a fine woman named Mrs. Rusk joined Mrs. Morgenthau and myself in a broadcast which had as its objective the awakening of interest among women to do their full part in the war bond drive and in war work. Mrs. Rusk confided to me that the boy in the service for whom she was buying bonds out of her weekly earnings is her only child, now overseas. It must be terrible to know that the dearest person you have in the world is fighting in Normandy, and not be able to get any word from him for weeks on end.

When we were talking, I realized how hard it is to have only one person in whom all your love is centered. If you have more children you may have more concern, since at all times some of them are apt to be in danger, but you do not have the sense of being totally vulnerable to one blow of fate.

* * *

I HAVE SPENT a considerable amount of time listening to the radio during the Republican convention. I heard Gov. Warren, Rep. Martin, Ex-President Hoover and Mrs. Luce. A little later on, those of us who listened to both sides will hear different interpretations of certain occurrences and a recital of some of the facts which are always omitted according to the interests of the speakers.

Mrs. Ray Clapper, in her radio comments on Mrs. Luce's speech, said she spoke with evident emotion, and there was no question but that Mrs. Clapper was moved when she made her comments. Mrs. Luce used very cleverly the appeal to all of us of GI Joe and GI Jim. But I wondered, if we stood with these men before St. Peter, what any of us, Republicans or Democrats, could say with complete certainty of the future.

* * *

JUT WHAT CONDITIONS will we face at the end of the war? Just what will those conditions require of us as individuals and as a nation? One thing seems so often to be forgotten—plans and promises may all be honest and the administration of them may be remarkably well thought out, but we deal with all kinds of human beings.

The only thing we know with absolute certainty is that, in the fuure which lies before us, the one important thing is the kind of human beings who will predominate in our country and in the other countries of the world.

Cherries Known As Nutritious Food

By MARTHA LEE

THERE ARE LOTS OF CHERRIES in the market now —the sweet cherries that everyone likes to eat out-of-hand. While fruit connoisseurs have always recognized their excellent eating qualities, it has taken modern research to discover that cherries—whether sweet, sour, fresh, canned or frozen—are nutritious food. They supply vitamins A, B and C—together with the important blood-building minerals, iron, copper, and manganese.

Sweet cherries are excellent also for canning as well as for salads, pies and other desserts. Before trying these recipes, you'll want to know that unpitted cherries measure about 3 cups to the pound; pitted, the measure shrinks to 2½ cups.

HOT PACK CHERRIES

Wash, stem, and pit cherries (if desired). Add) to 1 cup sugar for each 4 cups fruit. Bring to boil and pack into clean, hot jars. If juice alone is not enough, add medium sweet (1 cup sugar to 2 cups water) syrup to fill jars to ½ inch from top. Adjust jar lids and process 10 minutes in boiling water. From 1¼ to 1½ pounds raw cherries will make 1 quart, canned.

CHERRY-TIME SALAD

1 cup sweet cherries, pitted
1 cup cantaloupe wedges
½ cup avocado wedges
1 cup fresh grapefruit sections
½ cup French dressing, diluted with grapefruit juice
Lettuce

Wash, stem, and pit cherries. Combine with other fruits. Arrange in lettuce-lined salad bowl or on individual plates. Pour on French dressing. Makes 6 servings.

SALAD GARNISH

Many fruit salads and fruit plates are more attractive when garnished with large sweet cherries, pitted and stuffed with softened cream cheese. Do not stem.

SWEET CHERRY COBBLER

1 egg ¼ cup sugar
3 tbsp. melted shortening
1-3 cup milk 1 cup flour
2 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
3 cups sweet cherries
½ cup sugar

Beat egg until light. Add sugar gradually. Add shortening and milk. Sift and measure flour. Sift again with baking powder and salt. Add to egg mixture and blend thoroughly. Half fill greased baking dish with sugared pitted cherries. Cover with cobbler batter. Bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 30 minutes. Serve warm with cream. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

CHERRY SHORTCAKE

To 4 cups pitted cherries add ½ to ¾ cup sugar and 3 tbsp. water, and simmer 2 minutes, stirring until sugar is dissolved; cool.

Prepare shortcake dough. Roll or pat dough ¼-inch thick and cut with floured 3-inch biscuit cutter. Place ½ of rounds in shallow baking pan, brush with melted butter and cover with remaining halves. Brush tops with butter and bake in hot oven (450 deg. F.) for 15 minutes. Separate halves, spread soft sides with softened butter and cover bottom halves with cherries; lay other halves on top, soft sides up, and cover with cherries. Serve with plain or whipped cream.

For a large cake, divide dough in half and pat each gently into an 8-inch layer pan. Bake and put together as for individual cakes. Or bake in one layer and split. Makes about 6 servings.

Rationing timetable will appear hereafter on Tuesdays and Fridays.

Seeks Check On Conduct

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

In your column I've noticed from time to time letters written by soldiers' relatives concerning the conduct of women whose husbands are overseas, and these wives spend their time going about with other men, dancing and drinking.

A friend told me the other day that the government is making some effort to check on allowances going to these unfaithful women. I should like to know if this is really true?

M. J. K.

Your friend must have referred to an amendment introduced by Sen. Lucas of Illinois to the soldiers' relief act. This proposed measure will give divorce courts authority to determine the amount of a wife's allowance during divorce, annulment or separate maintenance litigation.

Cases have been found of wives willfully deserting their husbands and convicted of immoral conduct and still obtaining allowances, and that under present law, servicemen are unable to do anything about such situations. The amendment has not yet become a law and, while unfortunately there have been cases of delinquent wives, charges of delinquency have been brought against women when their soldier-husbands, overseas, have become interested in someone else. These charges should be sifted with the utmost care, not to penalize women whose only fault appears to be that they have outgrown their husbands' affections.

TIPS ON TIPPING—Many restaurants present the bill on a tray or plate. The tip (at least 10 per cent of bill) is then left on this receptacle. If there is no plate or tray in which to put the tip, leave it on the table. It is not necessary to hide the tip under a plate or saucer edge.

JVA Units Push Salvage Campaigns

Corps of the Junior Victory Army are still busy on salvage of waste paper, kitchen fats, tin cans and other materials, according to reports from their officers.

Pauline Hayward

Four of the units engaged in this work are the "Fighting Bulldogs" of Newburyport; the "Fun Band" Corps of East Boston; Corps No. 250 of Dorchester, commanded by Mary Burns, Lindsey st., and a new group organized by Jack Kenney, Shawmut ave., Boston.

Other officers in the latter unit are George Hayword, captain; Gene Hayword, sergeant, and William Chambers, corporal. Pauline Hayword is one of the members.

The "Fun Band" Corps, according to Secretary Grace Cipoletta, has been awarded certificates of merit for entertainment work. Albert F. Varner is the adult sponsor.

Commander Leslie Harris and Capt. Gene Haley of the "Fighting Bulldogs" report a new room has been added to their meeting place.

Now that school has closed, Comdr. Mary Burns says her members will salvage more scrap paper than ever.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army, Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin well-wrapped in your letter.

Ortiz Choice to Win Over Bolvin Tonight

By JACK CONWAY

MANUEL ORTIZ of Mexico City, world's bantamweight champion, is a favorite to win from hard-thumping Larry Bolvin of Providence, New England featherweight boss, in a 10-round bout at a Callahan A. C. show in National League Park tonight. The tussle will mark the opening of Ortiz' drive for the world's featherweight crown. Later Ortiz plans to try to add the lightweight title to his list of trophies.

The Disabled Veterans Fund of the American-Record-Sunday Advertiser will receive 10 per cent of the gross receipts of tonight's bout.

Ortiz has packed on weight in recent months and he will fight as a featherweight tonight. I do not believe the Mexican will ever again try to make the bantamweight limit of 118 pounds.

Sam Smith

"I am strong around 126 pounds," said Ortiz. "I am faster and hit harder. I am glad it has been so warm in Boston the last few days. I love warm weather and fight better with the mercury in the 90's.

"I shall box Bolvin in the early rounds and as soon as I discover his weaknesses I shall open up and try to score a knockout. I'll toss every punch I have at my command. Bolvin is a dangerous hitter and a good boxer, but I feel I shall conquer him as I did when we met in the All-America finals at the Boston Garden six years ago last winter. That time it was a split decision. Tonight I shall try to make my win more decisive."

★ ★ ★

Bolvin Is Ready

BOLVIN ARRIVED in Boston from Providence early today. He looked physically fit and he is confident he will score a startling upset at National League Park.

If faithfulness to training and determination will win, Bolvin should dispose of Ortiz. He has worked for three weeks for the Ortiz bout. He is as sharp physically as it is possible for him to be.

Bolvin, a great right hand puncher, has knocked out Joey Archibald and other top flight boxers. He says he will also halt Ortiz if he can score with his famous right hand sock to the jaw.

Bolvin will have plenty of backers. From Providence alone there will be more than 1000 fans at the ringside.

★ ★ ★

To Use Top Officials

BOXING Commissioners Sam Smith ad Dez Wadsworth declared they would use top officials tonight. Ortiz and Bolvin are both willing to accept any officials named by the commission.

Ortiz and Bolvin feel that members of the Boxing Commission are as anxious as they are to see that the proper decision is given tonight.

Tickets will be on sale at National League Park and at the Callahan A. C. office at No. 44 School st. during the day and at the ball park tonight. There will be 10,000 $1.25 seats in the first base pavilion placed on sale at the ball park tonight.

There will be 2000 choice ringside seats and other good seats in the grandstand and in the grandstand boxes. In view of the fact 10 per cent of the gross receipts is being donated to the Disabled Veterans Fund, Eddie Mack and Jack O'Brien, with the approval of everyone, decided against having any complimentary tickets.

★ ★ ★

Office Open

The box office at National League Park and at the Callahan A. C., No. 44 School st., will be open all day today for those persons wishing to buy tickets for the Ortiz-Bolvin bout. There will be 10,000 tickets at $1.25 each placed on sale at the ball park at night.

Preliminary Card

THERE WILL be two eight round bouts. Earl Lowman of Baltimore will meet Irish Johnny Flynn of Rochester, while Jimmy Mulligan of Lowell will clash with Ernie Williams of Newark.

Al Rodriguez of Mexico will tackle Lou Falco of Middletown, Ct., in a six rounder, while a four round bout will bring together Benny Andy of Providence and Willie Marcus of Hartford.

Junior A. A. U. Meet Saturday

The junior New England A. A. U. track and field championships, postponed from last Saturday, will be held Saturday, at Franklin Field. First event is at 3 p. m.

Events for men include 100, 440, mile, three-mile, high jump, broad jump, 16-pound shot and a Class B 50. Events for women are 50 and 100-yard dashes and Class B 50 dash. There will also be a 50-yard sprint for Dorchester boys 15 and under.

Ens. Joseph St. Lawrence, USNR of Harvard, who has gotten out 23 ft. 8 in., heads the broad jump entries, while Elihu Yorshis, Methuen High sprinter; Eliot Mover, USN, Harvard; Bill Thorn, USNR, Wellesley, are other sprinters entered.

Charles Harwood, Exeter Academy broad jumper and sprinter, former Concord High star, is also entered.

Entries close June 30 with Harry Carlson, 35 Chelmsford st., Dorchester. Phone number is Geneva 7734.

Sox, Yanks Near Peak

By BILL GRIMES

After winning eight in a row from the South Siders, Joe Cronin tossed Tex Hughson, his ace hurler, who has turned in 10 victories since he joined the club, against the White Sox this afternoon at Fenway Park. The Red Sox kept pace with the Yankees yesterday to a mere three and one-half games back of the first place Browns.

AN APPRECIATIVE CHAMPION— Manuel Ortiz (right) bantam weight king thanking Harry Kelley (left) at whose gymnasium the crown holder prepared so well for his bout tonight at Braves Field with Larry Bolvin.

The Hose turned back the White Sox 4 to 3 behind the eight-hit pitching of Joe Bowman, another nice relief job by Mike Ryba and timely two-baggers by Skeeter Newsome and Cronin.

YANKS BEAT BROWNS

Before the Red Sox and the White Sox went into action last evening, the Yankees had turned on the St. Louis Browns and come up with a 7 to 2 victory.

Manager Cronin still is experimenting with his batting order. He gave it a radical shakeup yesterday, for Pete Fox and Bob Johnson were the only players who stayed "put."

Joe Bowman pitched good ball until the heat got him. It was a close battle all the way, so all four pitchers had to bear down from start to finish.

GOOD OLD MIKE PRODUCES

"Iron Mike" Ryba did a grand job after taking over for Joe Bowman. He went in in the 8th with two down and the tieing run on second base. He worked very carefully on Eddie Garnett, who is a dangerous hitter in the clutch and then came back in the final round to get the White Sox in one-two-three order.

Gunder Hagg Is Licked at Home

STOCKHOLM, June 28 (AP)—Arne Anderson defeated Gunder Hagg in a 1500-meter race in the first meeting in two years of Sweden's two top runners.

Anderson turned the 1500 meters in Stockholm stadium in 3:48.8 to finish ahead of Hagg, who was timed in 3:50.2. Hagg led at the start, but Anderson, who holds the world record of 3:45 for the distance, won with a finishing spurt.

Anderson said the track was good, despite a morning rain. He indicated, however, that the muggy weather prevented a new record being set in the clash of the cinder stars.

This victory was Anderson's first over Hagg, he having spurred his countryman - to clockings heard 'round the world in their previous meetings. It was while Hagg was in America last year that Anderson set his 3:45 mark for the 1500 meters, and his 4:02.6 for the mile, eclipsing Hagg's best of 4:04.6.

Hagg made his second start of the season in this clash, his opening effort Sunday being a world record of 8:46.4 for the two-mile.

Navy Yard Sitting Pretty in Park Loop

Well out in front seeing that they walloped the Casey Club again last night, the Navy Yard meets the up and coming Linehan Club at Columbus Park tonight in the Park league's feature game.

The Linehans staged quite a drive for the last two weeks and moved up several points in the standings but now their temporary catcher, Frank Morley home on leave, has returned to his base, the Southie team will have to rely on its pitchers to stop the league leaders from picking up a couple of more valuable points.

At the Dorchester Town Field a spirited battle for second place is in the making as the Caseys, dropped to third by the loss to the Navy, will try to snap out of its slump at the expense of Watertown Arsenal.

The Watertown team's chances have been enhanced greatly by the acquisition of some new pitching talent and the Dorchester sluggers will have to regain their batting eyes very quickly if they want to get back in the fight.

At Draper Field, West Roxbury, the battle for the cellar will take place when the new entry, Charlestown A. A. and Hicks Engineering meet.

The Engineers have been looking better with each game in the past two weeks. A victory tonight would lift them out of the cellar for the first time this season.

Two Twi Games Burn Dykes

Manager Jimmy Dykes didn't take kindly to the news that his White Sox were listed for two twilight games on this visit . . . After playing a 3 o'clock game today, the two Sox clubs will wind up their series tomorrow with a 5:30 tilt.

The White Sox new road secretary, Frank McMahon, who is another of Mrs. Comiskey's sons-in-law, didn't learn about the Friday twilight game until he arrived in town on Monday . . . He had the transportation to New York for his Chicago party on the 7 p. m. Friday but discovered that he couldn't get any berths on the midnight . . . So, the White Sox, because of the late announcement of Friday's twilight game, must stay out and take the 8 o'clock to Gotham Saturday morning . . . Dykes yelled murder when he was told of the mixup but to no avail.

The Red Sox have been burning since they played a night game at Comiskey Park on May 29, hopped on a midnight train for Cleveland, where they went through the motions of playing a double-header on Memorial Day . . . But the White Sox didn't have a hand in those arrangements, which were made by the American League schedule makers.

TAR HEELER CORKIE CRONIN

On Tuesday, Manager Joe Cronin took his two sons, Tommie and Corkie, down to Osterville, where his family will summer . . . Soon after they arrived, Corkie stepped into a pail of tar and it was some time before the "Skipper" had him fit to meet any of the neighbors . . . Just before they were ready to start for home, Corkie heard a kitten crying and decided to investigate . . . While he was climbing over a wood pile, Corkie slipped and rolled into a coal bin . . . And that delayed Cronin's start home for an hour, for Papa Joe had to perform another mop-uppus job on his younger son.

Charlie "Chick" Maloney, who was playing for Hartford when he enlisted in the Navy, is back home after an 11-month stretch on a B-24 in the South Pacific . . . Chick worked out with the Red Sox yesterday . . . He was a navigator and was on many of the big offenses but was invalided home, due to a nerve disorder . . . At the end of his furlough, Chick will report to the U. S. Naval Station at Dallas, Tex.

Jimmy Webb, Ed Carnett and "Joe" Tucker did an Alphonse and Gaston act in the opening inning on Fox' pop to short center and Pete pulled up at second.

In the third, the first run of the game crossed the plate, when with two down and Wally Moses on second, Jim Tabor called for Roy Schalk's routine infield fly and the wind blew the ball out of his reach for a base hit . . . And, believe it or not, the White Sox duplicated that play in the same inning . . . With Pete Fox on second, Bobby Doerr popped up but again the wind caught the ball and it dropped between Grey Clarke and Jimmy Webb, allowing Fox to score and tie up the old ball game . . . Mike Tresh, the White Sox catcher, put Umpire Eddie Rommel on the spot when he made a second tag on George Metkovich after his "Nibs" had called "Cat" out on Wally Moses' fine throw from right field.

Raised $80,000 For League Contests

War relief picked up an estimated $80,000 today from the first four major league fund games but chunky Max Lanier of the St. Louis Cardinals just picked up a check for two more black marks in the loss column.

Lanier worked only six and two thirds innings last night but he was beaten by the Phillies, 4-0 and charged with another 6-5 defeat in a continuation of a May 16 "suspended" game.

The largest crowd of the St. Louis season, 24,782, turned out for the novel doubleheader but Ken Raffensberger of the Phils spoiled their fun with a neat four-hit job in the regulation game after Charley Schanz picked up where he had left off in the "suspended" tilt to notch his sixth victory.

NICHOLSON HOT

Bill Nicholson continued his mid-season rush toward the home run and runs batted in leadership by bashing his 13th and 14th circuit clouts and driving in five runs as Chicago whipped Brooklyn twice, 12-6 and 6-2 before 16,832 who paid $15,887.99 into the war fund. Bob Chipman and Hank Wyse were the winners over Whit Wyatt and Hal Gregg.

The New York Giants' Western trip started on a sour note as the Pittsburgh Pirates clubbed out a 9-2 edge for Max Butcher to hand Rube Fischer his sixth setback before 18,479 who dumped an estimataed $20,000 into the fund.

Dain Clay's 10th inning single in the opener, and Estel Crabtree's pinch single in the nightcap gave Cincinnati a double-decker win over Boston, 4-3 and 3-2 behind Jim Konstanty and Arnold Carter. Al Javery and Nate Andrews were the Boston losers to the delight of 10,650 Cincy customers.

BOSTON HIT BY JINX

The Yankee Stadium "jinx" struck down the St. Louis Browns who bowed before Atley Donald's talented curving, 7-2. Bob Muncrief's six-game win streak was snapped by the New Yorkers.

Don Black kept Philadelphia out of the American League cellar by scattering eight hits for win No. 5 by a 7-3 margin over Cleveland's Vern Kennedy and Washington's Niggerling turned back Detroit with three scratchy hits to decision Rufe Gentry, 4-1, and dump the Tigers into seventh place.

Connie Mack Likes Yankees

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Connie Mack says the Yankees look better now than they have at any time this season.

"I think Joe McCarthy must have had a talk with them," he said. "They're hustling, they're getting better pitching and hitting and they're all playing as though they really wanted to win."

Ellis Knowles' Golf Improves With Age

RYE, N. Y., June 29 (AP)—Ellis Knowles, who is likely to become the first three-time winner of the United States seniors golf championship, contends that he is a better golfer now than when he was intercollegiate champion and quarter-finalist in the national amateur tourney in 1907.

The 57-year-old Knowles shot 71-74—145 to lead the first division of seniors over the Apawamis course. He pointed out that in 1906 a 77 was a good enough score to win the intercollegiate qualifying medal. The second division of seniors will play today and tomorrow, but none is expected to threaten Knowles' lead.

Marblehead Offers Collegeiate Series

The blue ribbon event of college racing, the McMillan Cup series for the Intercollegiate Yacht Racing Ass'n championship, starts today at Marblehead under the burgee of the Pleon Yacht Club, the oldest junior club in the country, and comes to a close tomorrow afternoon when the new titlist will be known.

The series originally was for large boats—the collegian sail all year in the dinghies—but due to wartime conditions, the crews from six colleges will fight it out in the 10 Class, the closest thing to a racing machine ever made.

While the Lawley built "splinters" lack the size of the larger Internationals and M-B's, they will be plenty to handle for the collegiate skippers as they use spinnakers and will provide as much sight air work as the larger craft.

Last year, George O'Day, sailing in his home waters and class, ran into some tough breaks and had to be satisfied with a runner-up berth to Tech. But this year, with O'Day back as the Crimson skipper, Harvard must be named favorite, although Tech, Coast Guard and Yale must not be overlooked. The other entries, both dangerous, are Cornell and Michigan.

There is one other repeater starting today and that is Ens. C. Mitchell Daniels of the Coast Guard, who tied for third in the series last year and won the dinghy championship this past spring. If Daniels can repeat his earlier triumphs, Coast Guard will equal M. I. T.'s record of winning both championships in the same year.

Michigan entered an all-girl crew of Miss Harriet Jackson and Miss Barbara Fairman to represent them in the salt water classic and if memory serves correctly it is the first time an all-girl crew has ever taken part in the series.

Leahy Kindness to Boy Pays N. D. Dividend

Ed McKeever, Notre Dame's newest fotoball coach, who is visiting here, tells how a kid from Vandergrift, Pa., wrote Frank Leahy a couple of years ago enclosing a sketch of Leahy he had drawn and asking for an autograph . . . Frank sent it, expressed the hope that the kid would some day realize his ambition to attend Notre Dame and forgot all about it . . . During spring drill thus year McKeever, badly in need of a passer, tried almost everyone on the squad before he discovered that Freshman Joe Gasparella, listed as a center, really could throw that hoghide . . . Looking into the athletic department files to find Gasparella's back ground, McKeever found only the sketch of Leahy and Joe's letter.

★ ★ ★

Pat Filley, the '43 captain, will be back to lead the Notre Dame next fall unless the operation he underwent last week fixes up his trick knees so that the armed forces will accept him. Pat recently was handed a medical discharge from the Marines . . . Bob Kelly, a good runner and the only capable receiver of Gasparella's passes, only will be available for five games . . . McKeever really is "high" on the Gasparella kid, who is 6 feet 4, weighs 205 pounds and won't be 18 until next February . . . Bernie Crimmins and Paul Lillis, who played side by side in the Irish line a few years ago, are in the same P-T boat outfit with Yale's Larry Kelley in the South Pacific.

THE PRIME OF LIFE CAN BE PROLONGED

Dr. Henry G. Sherman Says:

"A generous supply of Calcium results in better development of the young, a higher form of adult health, and a longer lease of what we may call the prime of life—the period between maturity and old age."

FOOD RATIONING MAY NOT SUPPLY SUFFICIENT CALCIUM SAYS CLAUDE WICKARD, U. S. Secretary of Agriculture.

Calcium is more often deficient in the diet than any other minerals. Calcium deficiency is a form of malnutrition that may be the cause of acidity, nervousness, fatigue, weakened heart muscles and other effects which hasten the onset of "OLD AGE" and shorten the "PRIME OF LIFE."

AM I NERVOUS?

Sleeplessness with ragged, JARRED nerves, may be due to a calcium deficiency which upsets the parathyroid glands causing intense sensitivity of the whole nervous system.

DO I TIRE EASILY?

A calcium starved body tires easily. A calcium deficiency may cause an upset nerve system, less strength, energy and vitality. No person can be normal without a sufficient supply of calcium.

AM I OLD AT 40?

Old at 40, evidences of early aging, perhaps at 50 or 60, may be due to calcium deficiency. Calcium is needed, in adequate amount, in the repair and growth of body organs, tissues, cells. If your health is impaired, if you are run down, tired, old at 40 and nervous because you do not get enough Calcium or Phosphorus or Vitamin D or Vitamin B1 add KAL to your diet. See how much better you feel after KAL helps to build up, then maintain normal Calcium-Phosphorus balance and help overcome the ill effects of a deficiency of the vital elements KAL so richly supplies.
